NAZIS POUR MORE TROOPS INTO HOLLAND FROM AIR TRANSPORTS

PRESIDENT'S SPEECH SPURS U. S. ARMAMENT

Congress to Receive Requests For $500,000,000 More In Defense Funds.

EXPECT PROCLAMATIONS

Roosevelt's Address Saying, In Effect 'It Shall Not Happen Here,' Stirs Action.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — President Roosevelt's warning that western culture—Christian civilization—is menaced by forces bent ultimately on world wide conquest turned the nation today toward a costly national defense speedup.

In an address last night before the eighth American scientific congress, he said he thought our way of life could not survive extension of a wholly different principle of living to all other continents.

Congress is ready to receive new requests for immediate national defense funds — perhaps for as much as $500,000,000 more this year.

White House proclamations extending the neutrality act to Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg are expected shortly. It will be cash-carry, then, for them.

German invasion of those low lands and the little Duchy already has puffed and pinched American pocketbooks. Stocks and bonds sagged but some commodities zoomed on the biggest war news since Sept. 3.

American politics has not had time to adjust itself to the war's westward sweep. But events of this week may be leading toward such critical situations as some persons believe would bolster the movement within the Democratic party to nominate Mr. Roosevelt for a third term.

There is some talk of holding congress in session for the emergency period. But majority judgment seems to be against that as of today.

Twenty-four hours of tension and spectacular government pronouncements and conference ended last night with Mr. Roosevelt's scientific congress address.

He said, in effect, it shall not happen here.

Science is not responsible for the uses of annihilation to which their inventions have been put, he said.

"What has come about, he continued, "has been caused solely by those who use, and are using, your inventions of peace in a wholly different cause—those who seek to dominate hundreds of millions of people in vast continental areas—those who, if successful in that aim will, we know down in our hearts, enlarge their wild dream to encompass every human being and every mile of the earth's surface."

He said that in this hemisphere we seek the full life and to live

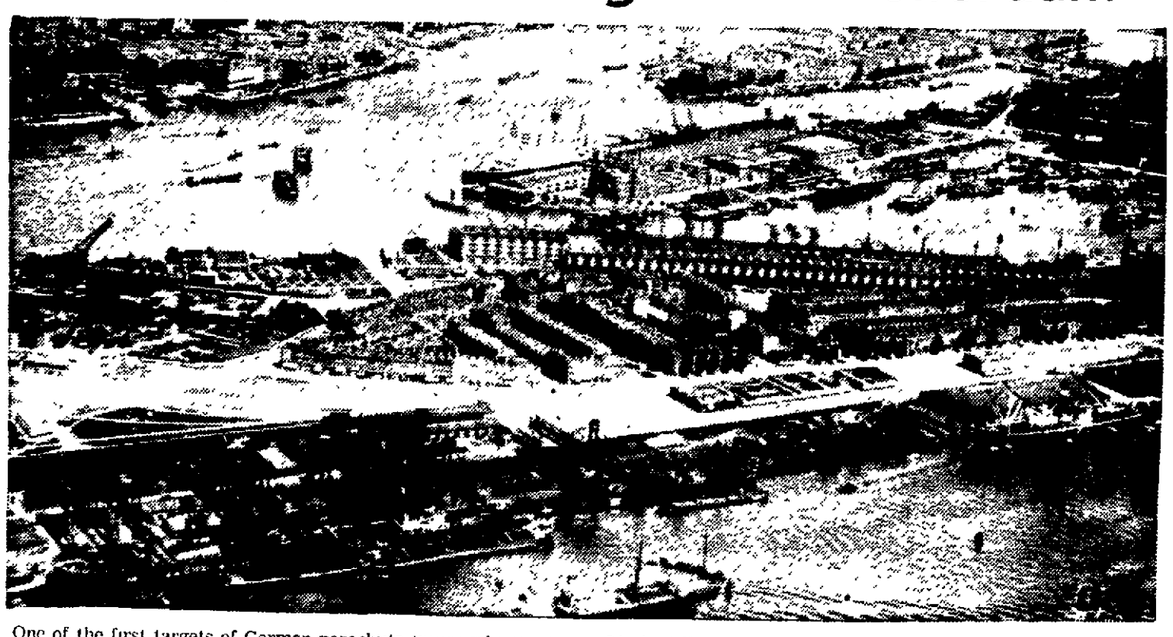
Dutch, Germans Fight for Rotterdam



One of the first targets of German parachute troops who were dropped in several parts of Holland was Rotterdam, chief Dutch seaport and one of the country's largest cities. Landing of the Nazi soldiers precipitated widespread fighting with Dutch defense forces along the banks of the River Nieuwe Maas. This recent aerial photo clearly shows the extensive and very valuable docking facilities of the city.

NEW CABINET BEING FORMED BY CHURCHILL

Britons Watch Sky for German Bombing Planes; Troops Aiding Belgians.

(By United Press)

LONDON—Britons watched the blue spring sky for blitzkrieg German bombing planes today while Winston Churchill, called to lead the government at one of the gravest times in the country's history, organized a truly national cabinet.

Allied response to the appeal for aid from German-invaded Holland Belgium and Luxemborg had been prompt. Allied staff officers already were working with the Belgian high command at Brussels. A British expeditionary force column, completely motorized, was on its way to the Belgian first defense line, French troops had contacted the Germans in Luxembourg and the British royal air force had blasted Germans in Holland.

The air ministry asserted that its planes had destroyed German troop transport planes at Rotterdam airdrome and on the beach near The Hague.

Numerous direct hits were scored in attacks on a large number of German planes at

SYMPATHETIC

Pope Sends Condolences to Invaded Nation Rulers.

VATICAN CITY —(INS)— Pope Pius XII today expressed his "profoundest sympathies" over the German invasion in telegraph messages to King Leopold of the Belgians, Queen Wilhelmina of Holland and the grand duchess of Luxembourg.

In his telegram to King Leopold the Pope said:

"At the moment when the Belgian people for the second time against their will and rights see their territory exposed to the cruelty of war, we are profoundly moved to send assurances of paternal affection and our prayer to God that the war will be brief and end in re-establishment of full liberty and independence."

In his message to Queen Wilhelmina, the pontiff referred to the failure of "noble efforts for peace" and gave assurances of his prayers for "reestablishement of justice and liberty."

HUMAN TORCH

Burning Clothes Start Blaze That Destroys Timber.

ROLLA, Mo.—(AP)—Harold Heflin, 19, stood too close to a burning truck and his clothes caught fire. Excited, he ran into a nearby woods, starting a blaze there.

Three acres of timber burned—Heflin's only injury was a badly scorched hand.

MINISTER DIES

TIFFIN—(AP)—Death came yesterday to Dr. George Henry Souder, 83, of nearby Bloomville, retired minister of the Reformed church.

Here is an air view of The Hague, Holland, peace capital of the world, attacked by the invader, Germany. The Hague is the capital city of Holland.

Coming to the helm of his empire's government at one of the most critical moments in its history, Winston Churchill, above, has replaced Neville Chamberlain as Great Britain's prime minister. The hard-hitting Churchill was Britain's first lord of the admiralty during the World war and held the same post in the present war until called upon to organize a new cabinet.

SET $6,000 WAR RELIEF QUOTA

Richland Asked to Raise That Amount In Red Cross Drive For $10,000,000.

Mansfield and Richland county today became a part of the greatest American drive for war relief funds since the World war when national headquarters of the American Red Cross telegraphed a quota of $6,000 for the local chapter to raise "without delay." It is a part of a national drive for $10,000,000.

Not since the war chest of 1917 has America been asked to contribute so large an amount for war relief. A meeting of Richland County chapter executive committee will be held late this afternoon to set up an organization for the drive.

Late War News In Sunday's Issue

Troubled voices all over the world are saying, "This is the war," as millions of men maneuver into position for the greatest battle of all time amid the crosses of the World war dead on Flanders field.

Every hour and every move hold sharp significance for all civilization and leased wires bring last minute details of each development to The News-Journal editorial rooms where they are organized for clear, quick reading.

Until two o'clock tomorrow morning these wires will tap out the news for readers of the Sunday edition.

And for respite from the war news there will be a dozen timely special stories in addition to the regular columns.

HOW YOU'LL VOTE.

In his political column, Robert E. Rogers discusses the 194 candidates in Tuesday's primary elections. On the same page you'll find reproductions of ballots which will be handed to the voters in their polling places.

ONE OF OHIO'S GREAT.

Sent as clipsheet to The News-Journal by a resident of Clarksburg, W. Va., seven excellent reproductions of old photographs of John Sherman and his homes form the basis of a story, by Jane Williams, of the Mansfielder who authored the Sherman Anti-Trust law and rose to a position beside Alexander Hamilton in the story of United States finance.

TWENTY YEARS OLD.

The Mansfield Kiwanis club observes its twentieth anniversary May 16. Pictures and Virgil A. Stanfield tell the story of a score of years of public service by the club and its officers.

'FORE' FOR FUN.

Charles Martin and Photographer Harold Valentine scouted around Mansfield's three golf courses during the week and together they bring you the facts of what it takes to put a links in shape for the summer's fun.

The sports pages will carry pictures of the star fighters in the impending Friendly House Mitt show, results of the Mansfield Akron Garfield track meet, and a round-up of the North Central Ohio meet at Ashland.

There'll be plenty of news from surrounding towns, pictures of the new CCC camp, photographs of six sets of twins in the city's two minor high schools, an introduction to Harold Stassen, Republican convention keynoter, the story of three more of Mansfield's industries, and of course plenty of comics, school news, society, women's page features, fiction, and the cross-quizz puzzle.

BELGIANS BEAT OFF NAZIS AS ALLIES ARRIVE

Brussels Bombed Too by German Planes; Troops Continue to Hold Positions.

CLAIM INVADERS HALTED

French-British Troops, Tanks Move Toward Front; Mop Up Parachute Fighters.

(By Associated Press)

BRUSSELS—Brussels was bombed twice today while the Belgian army's strong line of defense continued to hold up the German invaders and British and French troops supported by tanks and artillery moved up to bolster the Belgian positions.

Ambulances returning to Brussels hospitals indicated the latest raids by the Nazi bombers had taken a human toll. The first bombing of the capital yesterday morning left 41 dead and 82 injured.

Planes were reported all over the country last night, and shortly after 5 o'clock this morning flights of nine and 10 planes were seen over Namur, 35 miles southeast of the capital, and Dinant, 15 miles south of Namur.

Four soldiers were reported killed in a bombardment of Rixensart, about 10 miles from Brussels, at 4:30, while Alost, 15 miles west of here, also was reported bombed.

British and French troops, with tanks, artillery, motorcycles and engineers, were observed moving through Belgium this morning. But the government kept strict censorship on their movements, as well as on the situation at the front and other military information.

Refugees from the frontier areas arrived in Brussels throughout the night, many of them riding in open trucks.

Brussels, which early in the war became accustomed to blackouts and restrictions on cafes and theaters presented a perfectly prepared blackout during the night.

Blue bulbs had been placed in all the streets lights before the war began. The inhabitants were calm.

Belgium proclaimed that a lightning defense had stopped Germany's lightning invasion.

On land, declared Defense Minister Lieut.-Gen. Henri Denis,

TAKES POISON

Former Vice Raider Convicted Of Delinquency Charge.

YOUNGSTOWN — (UP) — Earl Spencer, former Youngstown vice raider, was reported in fair condition in a hospital today after drinking poison upon his conviction on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a 15-year-old Hubbard, O., girl.

A jury found him guilty of the accusation after five and one-half hours deliberation. Judge J. P. Beckenbach pronounced sentence of one year in the Mahoning county jail and a fine of $1,000.

Immediately after hearing the sentence, Spencer put his hand in his pocket, pulled out a bottle of poison and swallowed it.

"Why should I go to jail for a year?" he exclaimed. "I'm not guilty. I didn't do anything wrong."

Court attendants rushed Spencer to the hospital where he submitted to a stomach pump.

Japan Claims 13,000 Killed During Major Battle.

TOKYO —(INS)— The main Chinese force in the Hupeh and Honan provinces consisting of 200,000 troops was defeated in a major battle for control of the area, a field dispatch from Japanese headquarters claimed today.

The Chinese lost 13,000 killed and wounded and 1,500 prisoners, the dispatch stated.

Sweeping Nazi Attack Beaten Off By Allies

Rotterdam and The Hague Appear as Chief Objectives; Brussels and Amsterdam Bombed; Hundreds Of Parachutists Dropped.

BULLETIN

AMSTERDAM — (UP) — German airplanes bombed Amsterdam today, dropping explosives on the center of the city between the royal palace and the main railroad station. At least seven persons were killed and 19 wounded.

(By United Press)

AMSTERDAM—German's air armada dropped hundreds of fully-equipped parachute troops on Holland today in a gigantic aerial invasion of the low countries.

Dutch and Belgian troops—backed by fast Allied mechanized columns—beat off the sweeping German land attack along their frontiers but Nazi airplanes filled the skies in an offensive designed to break resistance by bombardment and seizure of communications centers.

The Hague, capital of the Netherlands, and Rotterdam, important seaport, appeared to be the main German objectives, but five German bombs landed in central Amsterdam and Brussels reported German bombing planes active through Belgium.

The Brussels radio station closed down this afternoon, possibly due to an air raid.

In addition to bombing and machine-gunning Allied columns moving to the battle front, the German air transports flew low over Dutch and Belgian towns to drop parachute troops at points where previously-landed German forces were hard pressed by the Dutch defenders.

Messages to Amsterdam and radio warnings broadcast by the Dutch military reported that six German planes unloaded 200 parachute soldiers from a low altitude near Rotterdam. (The Dutch previously had recaptured the Rotterdam and The Hague airfields from the Germans and late reports indicated Nazis held the Rotterdam marine barracks and that a big battle was in progress.)

About 80 German parachute soldiers were reported to have landed from planes at Sliedrecht, also near Rotterdam.

SATISFIED: Germans Jubilant Over Success of Invading Army

BULLETIN

BERLIN—DNB, official German news agency, asserted today that one of Belgium's strong forts before Liege was in German hands.

(By International News Service)

BERLIN—Initial German successes in the western front offensive exceed all expectations, it was stated in Nazi military circles today.

Reports received in Berlin gave general satisfaction to the high command. The penetration of Holland, Belgium and Luxembourg was hailed as proof of the striking power of the Nazi forces.

More important still, according to authentic sources, the last 24 hours have witnessed the greatest employment of air forces in history "with waves of hundreds of planes systematically raining thousands of bombs upon Allied military objectives with the aim of paralyzing the enemy machine at its vital points."

According to first reports, serious crippling of Allied airports and railway junctions "is already an established fact."

The first test of modern heavy fortifications in the Belgian area was said to have sustained the German conviction that specialized weapons, in conjunction with the air force, artillery and storm-troop

BATTLE: French Troops Fight German Forces In Luxembourg

(By Associated Press)

PARIS—French troops moved into a "spirited" battle with German infantry in two sectors of the newly opened war front today, the general staff reported, while their Belgian and Dutch allies fought to stem the Nazi advance in the north.

At the same time a vast struggle for air supremacy was developing over Belgium as French and British planes fought off the thrusts of planes attempting to halt the flow of Allied reinforcements into the beleaguered low countries.

The tiny duchy of Luxembourg through which the German moved swiftly yesterday, and the country east of the Moselle river along what was previously known as the French front were the scenes of the fighting today.

In the Luxembourg sector, a general staff spokesman said, French advance guards were "maintaining our advance" in a series of engagements with Nazi patrols.

On the Moselle river sector, French troops were said to have reoccupied outposts from which they withdrew yesterday under heavy German attacks.

French sources described today's situation on the other main battle sectors in the lowlands as follows:

Netherlands—Dutch forces have succeeded in "mopping up" virtu-

WALL STREET DISPLAYS CALM ATTITUDE TODAY

Yesterday's Shaky Stocks Do Better In Early Trading; Store Sales Are Up.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Wall Street displayed a calmer demeanor today over the latest German blitzkrieg and shaky stocks of yesterday did better in early dealings.

Those who were able to take their eyes off the foreign scene noted the federal reserve summary disclosing the nation's department store sales for the week ended May 4, topped the comparable period a year ago by 4 per cent.

Principal year-to-year increases were shown by the districts of Richmond with 12 per cent; and Boston, Cleveland and St. Louis, 8 per cent.

Interest was expressed in the compilation of the department of commerce indicating both wholesale and retail financing of automobiles in the first quarter showed relatively sharp expansion over the same 1939 months.

RESOLUTION NO. 40-47

By Mr. Kyle.

Declaring it necessary to improve South side of Park Avenue West and Glenbeck Lane, to-wit: South side of Park Avenue West from the sanitary sewer in Linden Road west a distance of 1100 ft. more or less, and Glenbeck Lane from Park Avenue West to south end of Glenbeck Lane by the construction of 10 in. and 8 in. sanitary sewers.

Be it Resolved by the Council of the City of Mansfield State of Ohio, Three-Fourths of all Members elected thereunto concurring,

SEC. 1.—That it is necessary to improve South side of Park Avenue West and Glenbeck Lane, to-wit: South side of Park Avenue West from the sanitary sewer in Linden Road west a distance of 1100 ft. more or less, and Glenbeck Lane from Park Avenue West to south end of Glenbeck Lane by the construction of 10 in. and 8 in. sanitary sewers.

SEC. 2.—That the plans, specifications, estimates and profiles of the proposed improvement heretofore prepared by the City Civil Engineer and now on file in the office of the Department of Public Service, be and the same are hereby approved

SEC. 3.—That the whole cost of said improvement, less one-fiftieth of the total cost and less the portion of cost furnished by Federal Aid shall be assessed in proportion to the benefits resulting from the improvement upon the following described lots and lands, to-wit: all lots and lands bounding and abutting upon the proposed improvement which said lots and lands are hereby determined to be specifically benefitted by said improvement, and the cost of said improvement shall include the expense of printing, publishing and serving the necessary legal notices, the printing and publishing of the necessary resolutions and ordinances, the cost of construction and inspection together with interest on bonds issued in anticipation of the collection of deferred assessments and all other necessary expenditures

SEC. 4.—That the assessments so to be levied shall be paid in three annual installments, with interest on deferred payments at the same rate as borne by the bonds to be issued therefore, provided that the owner of any property assessed may at his option pay such assessment in cash within thirty days from and after the passage of the assessing ordinance in which case no interest shall be charged thereon. Each such installment shall be a separate item of interest upon bond issued in anticipation of the collection of deferred installments of assessments.

SEC. 5.—That bonds of the City of Mansfield shall be issued in anticipation of the collection of assessments in installments and in an amount equal thereto.

SEC. 6.—That the remainder of the entire cost of said improvement not specially assessed together with the cost of any land or lots or parts thereof, purchased or appropriated for said improvement, the damages awarded on account thereof, all of which lands and lots or parts thereof the said City shall be and is hereby authorized to purchase and pay for, shall be paid by the City of Mansfield from the proceeds of the sale of its bonds issued in accordance with Federal and State laws in force.

SEC. 7.—This resolution shall take effect and be in force from and after the earliest period allowed by law.

Passed May 7, 1940.

TILLIE THE TOILER

THIS IS REALLY A GOOD POEM IF I DID WRITE IT, MYSELF~I'LL BET MY STOCK WILL RISE WITH TILLIE WHEN SHE FINDS IT IN HERE
THIS GERALD COURTNEY'S REALLY AN AWFULLY NICE BOY~YOU'D LIKE HIM
PHOOEY~BUBBLES SAYS HE WRITES SONNETS AND THINGS~NO REAL HE-MAN WOULD WRITE POETRY
GLENNY~WHAT ARE YOU TAKING OUT OF MY DESK?
Russ Westover
GLENNY~YOU TOOK SOMETHING OUT OF MY DESK~I SAW YOU
GOSH~IF SHE THINKS NO HE-MAN WOULD WRITE POETRY~I CAN'T LET HER SEE THIS POEM
IT WAS NOTHING
MAC! WALLY! STOP HIM!!
HE TOOK SOMETHING OUT OF MY DESK
WHAT'S GOING ON HERE?
LET ME GO
I SAW HIM PUT IT IN HIS POCKET, WHATEVER IT WAS
AHA! IT'S A DOLLAR BILL
GLENNY~I NEVER DREAMED YOU WERE A THIEF
Simpson, Ill. State Museum
A DOLLAR BILL~I SUGGEST WE CALL THE POLICE
GOSH! BUT EVEN YET MAYBE I CAN KEEP HER FROM FINDING OUT I'VE WRITTEN A POEM
JUST A MINUTE~LOOK IN THAT DRAWER AND SEE IF ANY MONEY IS MISSING
ALL RIGHT~I HAD THREE DOLLARS THERE
YES, ALL THREE DOLLARS ARE HERE
SEE~THAT DOLLAR BILL IS MINE
JUST A MINUTE~THIS BILL IS PHONEY
DON'T TELL ME YOU'RE PASSING COUNTERFEITS
WE WON'T CALL THE COPS~THE BILL'S PHONEY, BUT EVERYBODY GETS STUCK WITH ONE ONCE IN A WHILE
WHAT A RELIEF~SHE STILL NEEDN'T KNOW I'VE WRITTEN A POEM
I SEE IT~HE WAS JUST GOING TO TRADE HIS PHONEY FOR ONE OF YOUR GOOD ONES, WHEN YOU WALKED IN
BUT I STILL WANT TO KNOW WHAT HE WAS DOING IN MY DESK
SO YOU THINK I'M THAT LOW, DO YOU?
UG
WE'D BETTER CALL THE COPS. AFTER ALL, IT'S ASSAULT AND BATTERY THIS TIME
EVEN IF I AM PINCHED, TILLIE ISN'T GOING TO KNOW I'VE WRITTEN A POEM~I'LL SWALLOW THE BLAMED THING
ARE YOU ALL RIGHT, MAC?
YEAH
UB UG UB
HE'S CHOKING
A SLAP ON THE BACK WILL FIX HIM, AND DON'T EXPECT A GENTLE ONE FROM ME
UG
WHY, IT WAS A WAD OF PAPER YOU CHOKED ON WOP
Russ Westover
SO THAT'S WHAT GLENNY TRIED TO SWALLOW
IT'S PRETTY CHEWED UP BUT IT'S POETRY IN GLENNY'S HANDWRITING. "YOUR EYES ARE LIKE THE STARS ABOVE"
AW, I MIGHT AS WELL ADMIT I WROTE IT AND PUT IT IN YOUR DESK, THEN I HEARD YOU SAY NO REAL HE-MAN WOULD WRITE POETRY
OH, GLENNY, YOU SHOULDN'T FEEL EMBARRASSED
DON'T YOU SEE, GLENNY? I DID SAY NO HE-MAN WOULD WRITE POETRY, BUT I DIDN'T SAY NO HE-BOY WOULD
SO LONG, HE-BOY
AND I SUPPOSE EVEN AFTER THAT CRACK, HE SHOULDN'T BE EMBARRASSED

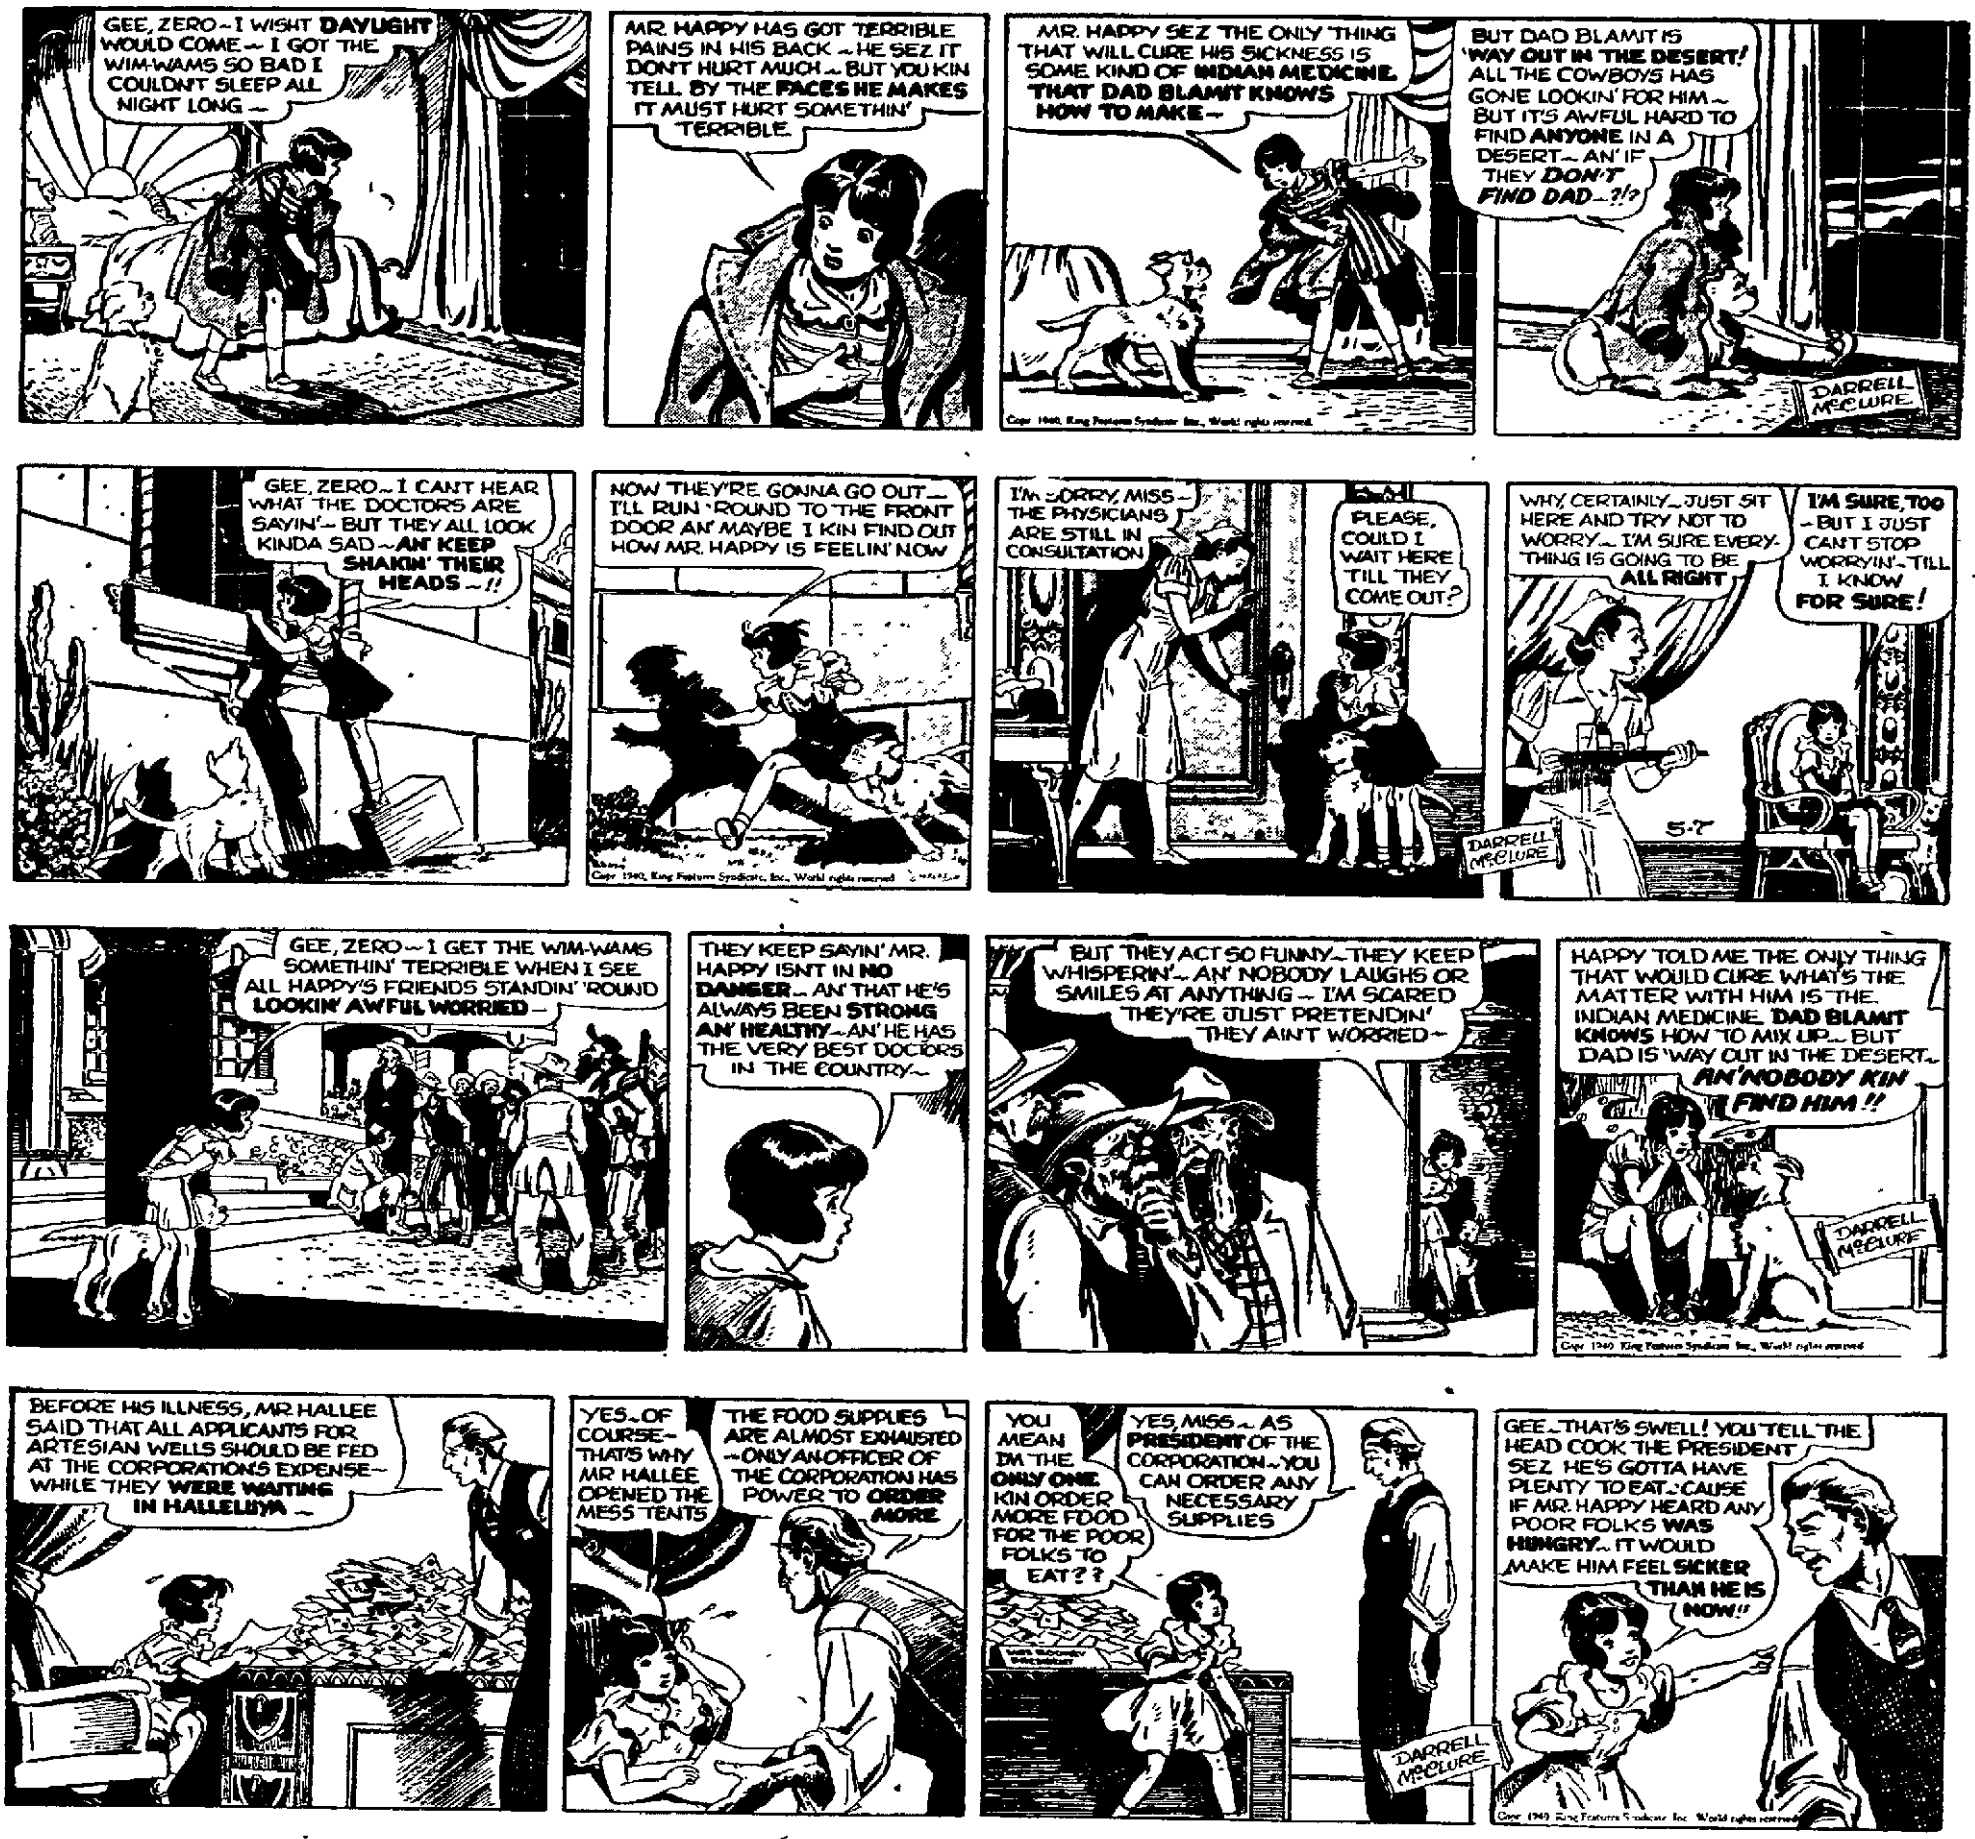
LITTLE ANNIE ROONEY



GEE, ZERO - I WISHT DAYLIGHT WOULD COME - I GOT THE WIM-WAMS SO BAD I COULDN'T SLEEP ALL NIGHT LONG -
MR. HAPPY HAS GOT TERRIBLE PAINS IN HIS BACK - HE SEZ IT DON'T HURT MUCH - BUT YOU KIN TELL BY THE FACES HE MAKES IT MUST HURT SOMETHIN' TERRIBLE
MR. HAPPY SEZ THE ONLY THING THAT WILL CURE HIS SICKNESS IS SOME KIND OF INDIAN MEDICINE THAT DAD BLAMIT KNOWS HOW TO MAKE -
BUT DAD BLAMIT IS 'WAY OUT IN THE DESERT! ALL THE COWBOYS HAS GONE LOOKIN' FOR HIM - BUT IT'S AWFUL HARD TO FIND ANYONE IN A DESERT - AN' IF THEY DON'T FIND DAD - ?!?
DARRELL McCLURE
GEE, ZERO - I CAN'T HEAR WHAT THE DOCTORS ARE SAYIN' - BUT THEY ALL LOOK KINDA SAD - AN' KEEP SHAKIN' THEIR HEADS - !!
NOW THEY'RE GONNA GO OUT - I'LL RUN 'ROUND TO THE FRONT DOOR AN' MAYBE I KIN FIND OUT HOW MR. HAPPY IS FEELIN' NOW
I'M SORRY, MISS - THE PHYSICIANS ARE STILL IN CONSULTATION
PLEASE, COULD I WAIT HERE TILL THEY COME OUT?
DARRELL McCLURE
WHY CERTAINLY - JUST SIT HERE AND TRY NOT TO WORRY - I'M SURE EVERY-THING IS GOING TO BE ALL RIGHT
I'M SURE, TOO - BUT I JUST CAN'T STOP WORRYIN' - TILL I KNOW FOR SURE!
5-7
GEE, ZERO - I GET THE WIM-WAMS SOMETHIN' TERRIBLE WHEN I SEE ALL HAPPY'S FRIENDS STANDIN' 'ROUND LOOKIN' AWFUL WORRIED -
THEY KEEP SAYIN' MR. HAPPY ISN'T IN NO DANGER - AN' THAT HE'S ALWAYS BEEN STRONG AN' HEALTHY - AN' HE HAS THE VERY BEST DOCTORS IN THE COUNTRY -
BUT THEY ACT SO FUNNY - THEY KEEP WHISPERIN' - AN' NOBODY LAUGHS OR SMILES AT ANYTHING - I'M SCARED THEY'RE JUST PRETENDIN' THEY AIN'T WORRIED - HAPPY TOLD ME THE ONLY THING THAT WOULD CURE WHAT'S THE MATTER WITH HIM IS THE INDIAN MEDICINE, DAD BLAMIT KNOWS HOW TO MIX UP - BUT DAD IS 'WAY OUT IN THE DESERT - AN' NOBODY KIN FIND HIM !!
DARRELL McCLURE

BEFORE HIS ILLNESS, MR HALLEE SAID THAT ALL APPLICANTS FOR ARTESIAN WELLS SHOULD BE FED AT THE CORPORATIONS EXPENSE - WHILE THEY WERE WAITING IN HALLELUYA -
YES - OF COURSE - THAT'S WHY MR HALLEE OPENED THE MESS TENTS
THE FOOD SUPPLIES ARE ALMOST EXHAUSTED - ONLY AN OFFICER OF THE CORPORATION HAS POWER TO ORDER MORE
YOU MEAN I'M THE ONLY ONE KIN ORDER MORE FOOD FOR THE POOR FOLKS TO EAT??
YES, MISS - AS PRESIDENT OF THE CORPORATION - YOU CAN ORDER ANY NECESSARY SUPPLIES
DARRELL McCLURE
GEE - THAT'S SWELL! YOU TELL THE HEAD COOK THE PRESIDENT SEZ HE'S GOTTA HAVE PLENTY TO EAT - 'CAUSE IF MR. HAPPY HEARD ANY POOR FOLKS WAS HUNGRY - IT WOULD MAKE HIM FEEL SICKER THAN HE IS NOW!!
THERE'S SOME MORE COWBOYS - DAD BLAME IT IF THE DESERT AIN'T GETTIN' AS CROWDED AS A SARDINE CAN - THAT'S THE SECOND PARTY I'VE SPOTTED THIS WEEK!!
FELLA STEERING THAT AIRSHIP MUST BE PLUMB LOONY - IT KEEPS A-TURNIN' AN' TWISTIN' 'ROUND LIKE A LOCO-EATIN' BRONC
DAD BLAME IT - MUST BE A GOLD RUSH OR SOMETHIN' - SEEMS LIKE A MILLION STRANGERS IS A-RUSHIN' INTO THE DESERT ALL OF A SUDDEN!
GEE, ZERO - I WISHT SOMEONE WOULD FIND DAD BLAMIT - THE DOCTORS SAY 'THE PATIENT'S CONDITION REMAINS UNCHANGED' - AN' THAT'S JUST A FANCY WAY OF SAYIN' - MR. HALLEE AIN'T GETTIN' NO BETTER!!
DARRELL McCLURE
5-10
I TELLYA HAPPY'S A MIGHTY TOUGH OL' WILDCAT - HE'S GOT A HERD OF HIGH-PRICED DOCTORS AN' NURSES A-WORKIN' NIGHT AN' DAY - SOME OF THEM MUST KNOW SOMETHIN'
I AIN'T A-BLAMIN' THE DOCTORS - BUT YOU KNOW HAPPY HAD THAT SICKNESS BEFORE - AN' NOTHIN' COULD HELP HIM - 'CEPTIN' SOME OF OLD DAD BLAMIT'S HERN MEDICINE
- YOU KNOW MR HAPPY IS SWELL - HE WAS ALWAYS LAUGHIN' - AN' HELPIN' FOLKS WHO WAS IN TROUBLE - NOW HE'S TERRIBLE SICK AN' THE DOCTORS CAN'T CURE HIM -
SO PLEASE SHOW THE COWBOYS OR SOMEBODY WHERE TO FIND DAD BLAMIT - AN' MAKE DAD COME BACK QUICK WITH THAT INDIAN MEDICINE THAT WILL CURE MR. HAPPY!

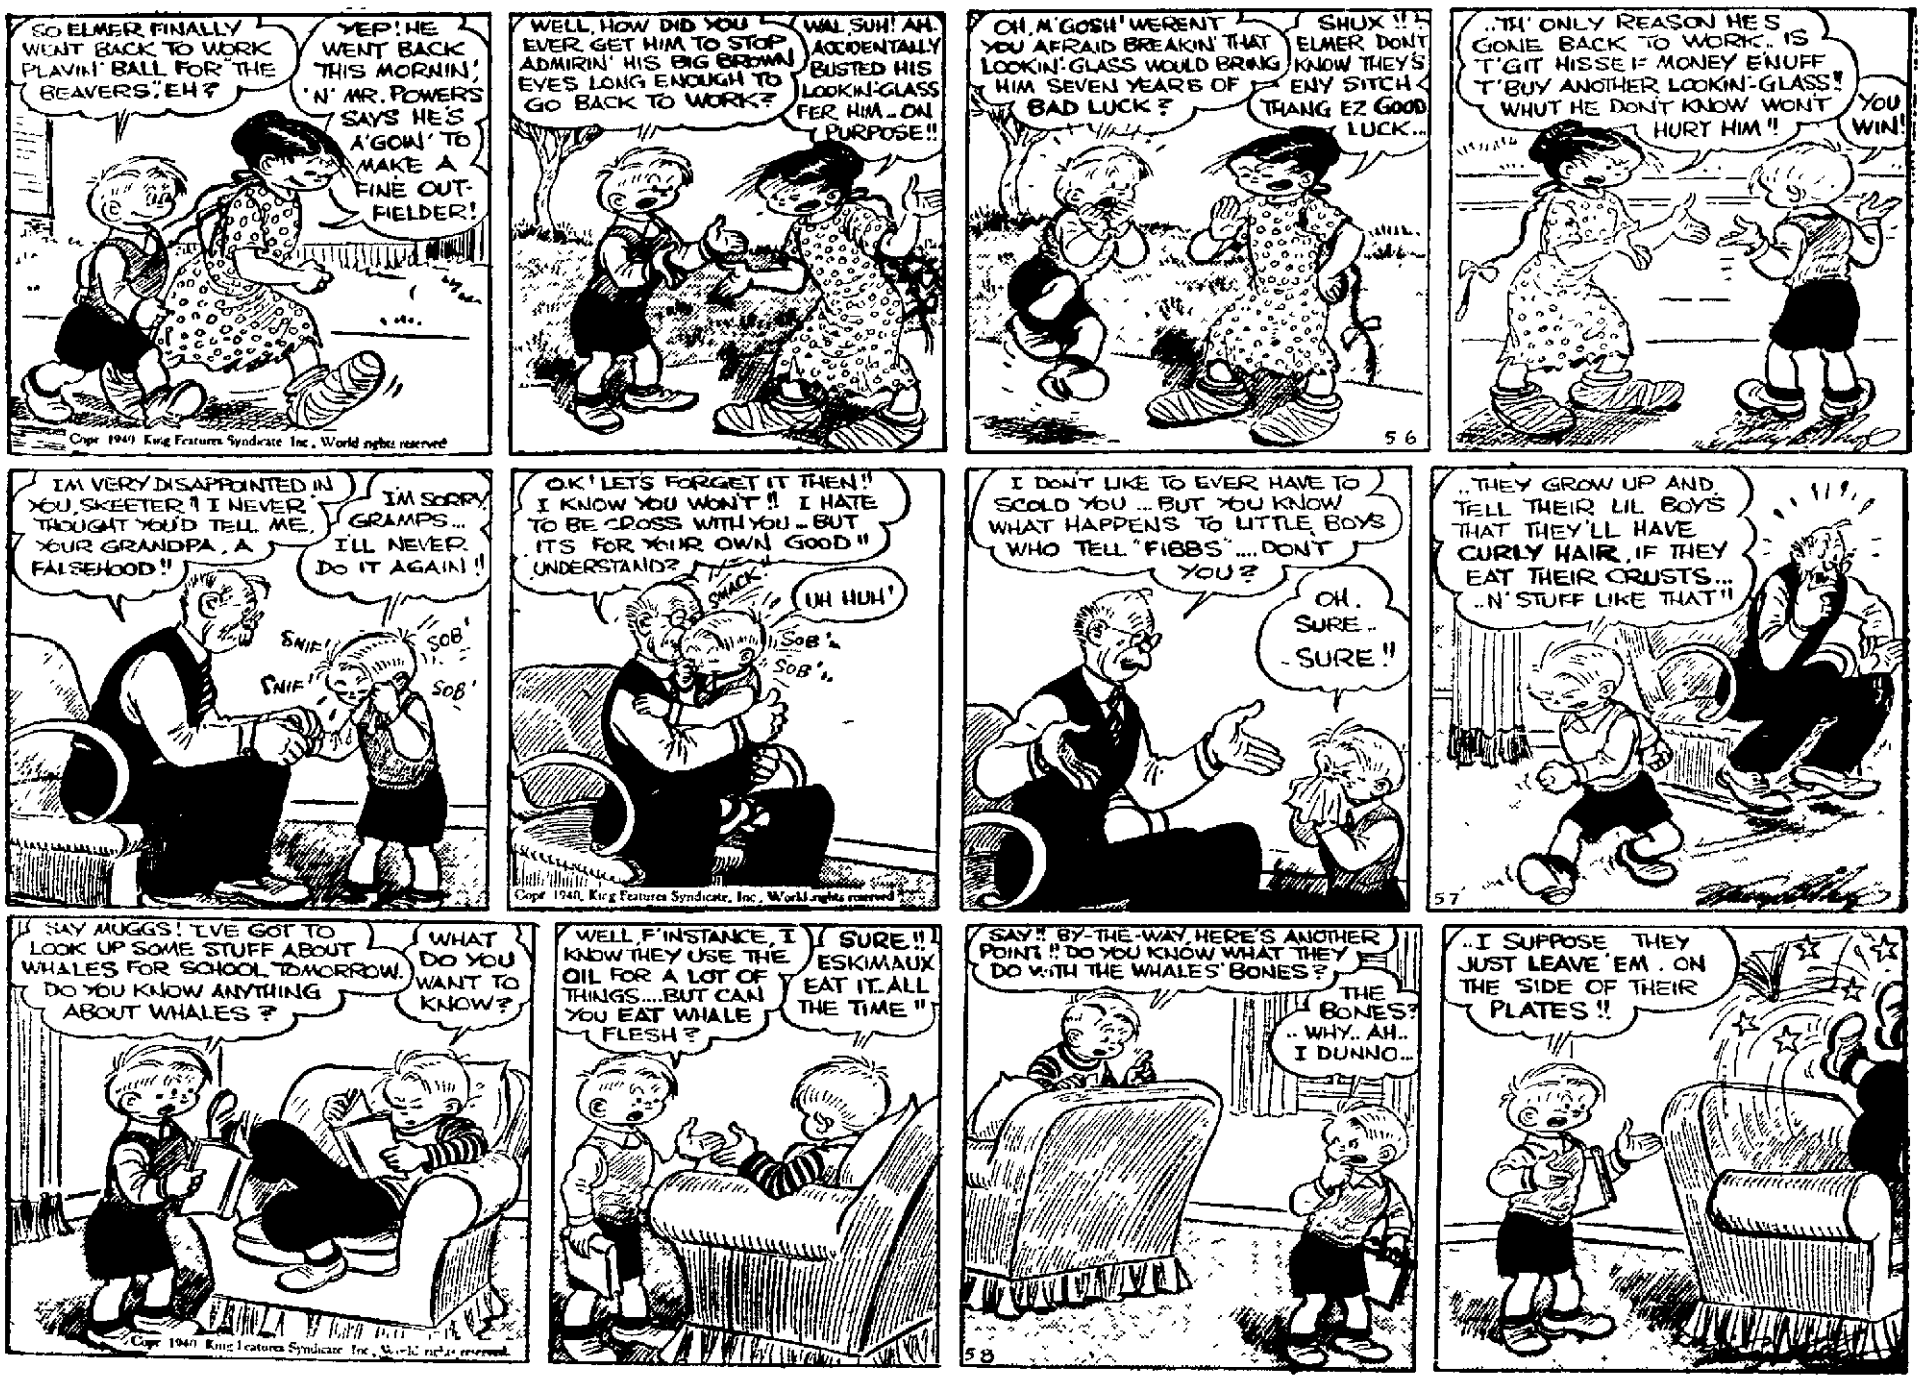
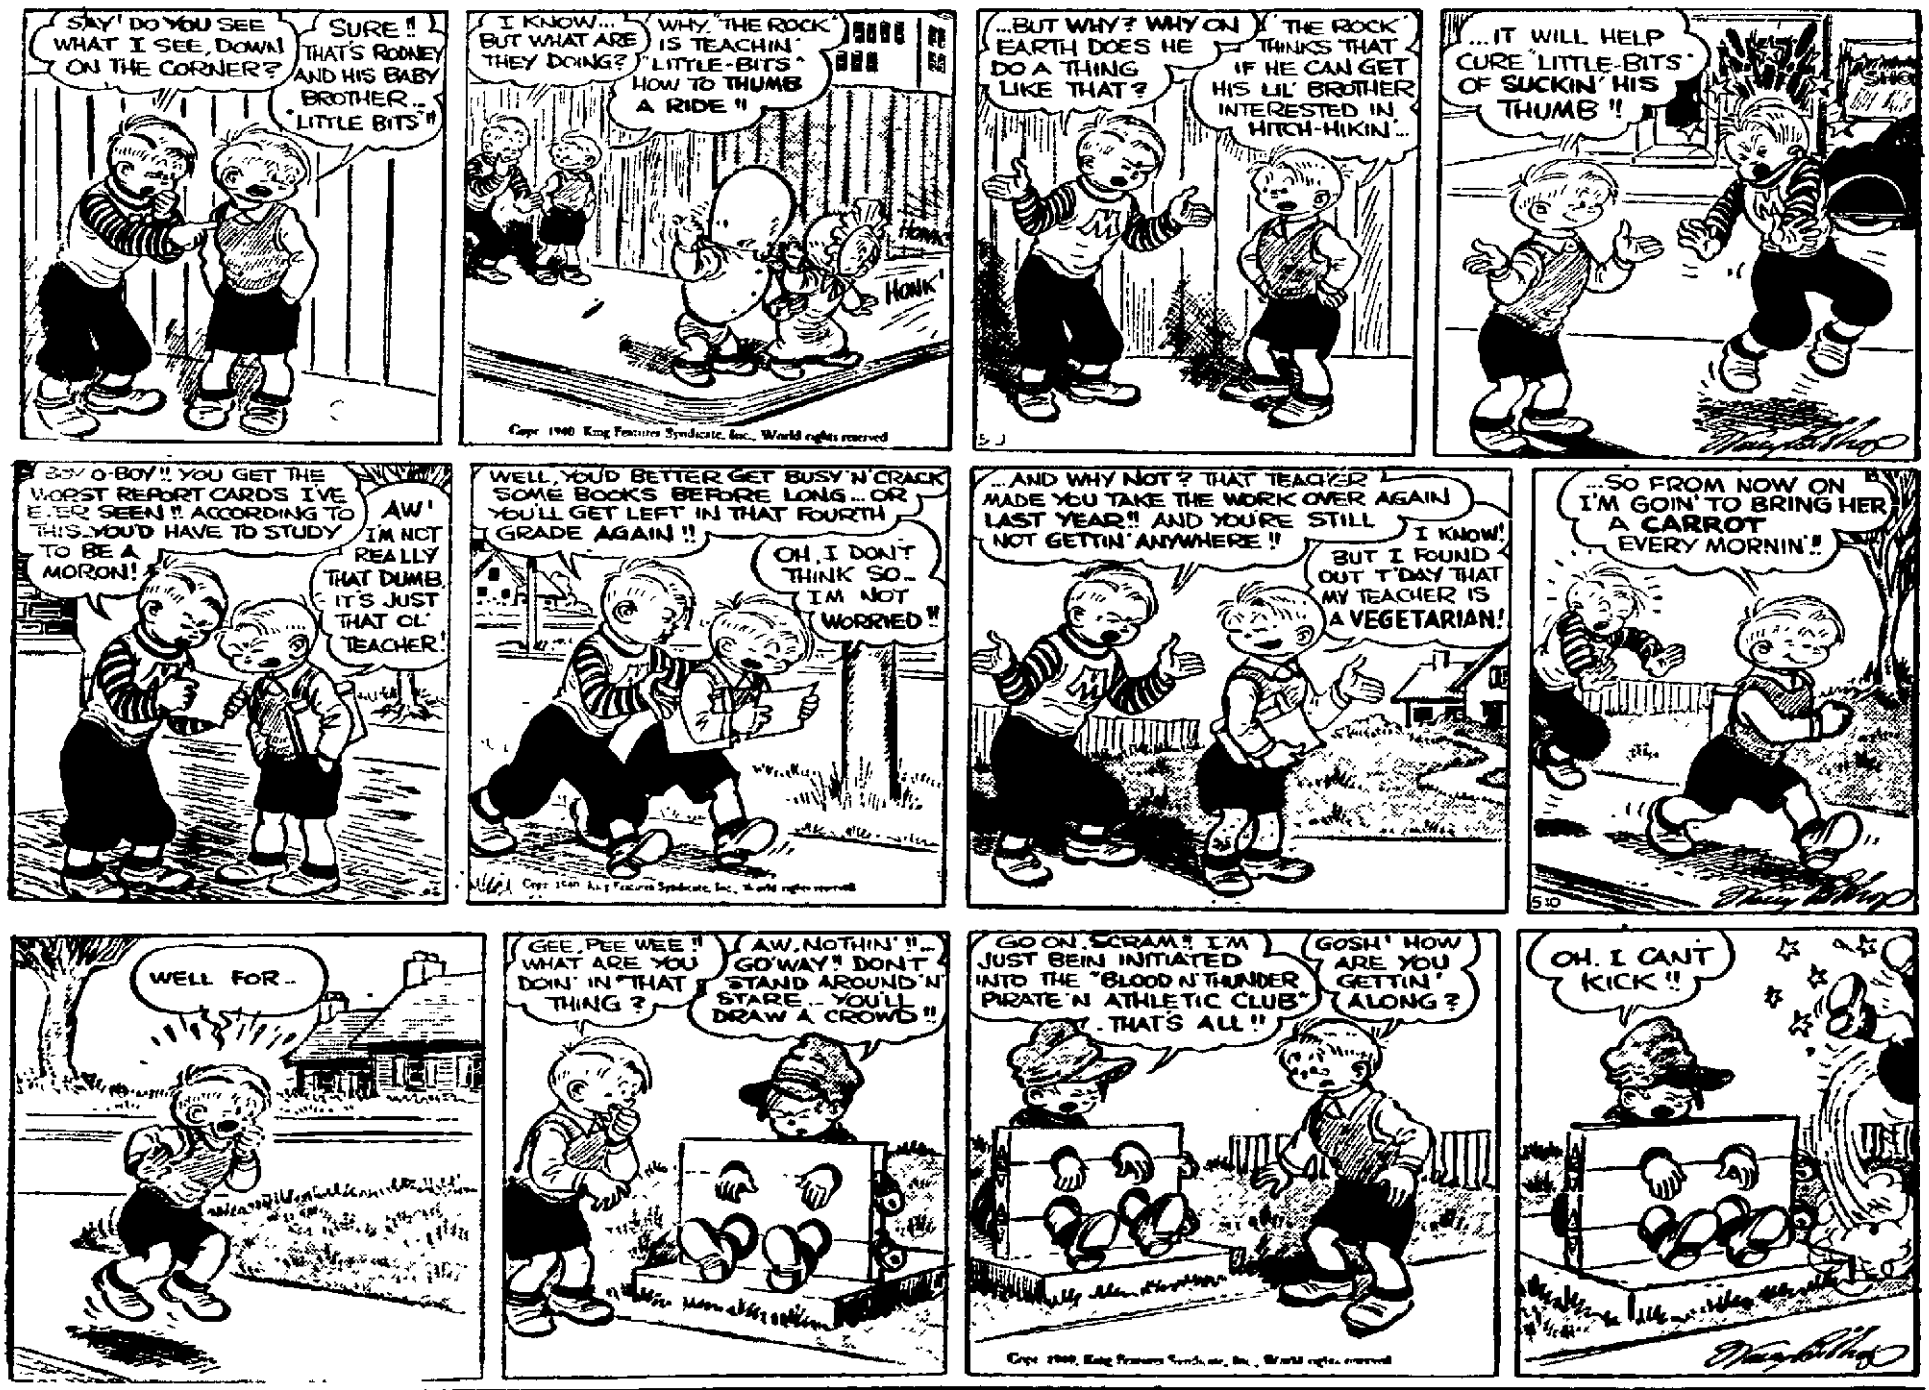
MUGGS McGINNIS



SO ELMER FINALLY WENT BACK TO WORK PLAYIN' BALL FOR THE BEAVERS, EH?
YEP! HE WENT BACK THIS MORNIN', 'N' MR. POWERS SAYS HE'S A'GOIN' TO MAKE A FINE OUT-FIELDER!
Copr 1940 King Features Syndicate Inc., World rights reserved
WELL, HOW DID YOU EVER GET HIM TO STOP ADMIRIN' HIS BIG BROWN EYES LONG ENOUGH TO GO BACK TO WORK?
WAL, SUH! AH ACCIDENTALLY BUSTED HIS LOOKIN'-GLASS FER HIM - ON PURPOSE!!
OH, M'GOSH! WERENT YOU AFRAID BREAKIN' THAT LOOKIN'-GLASS WOULD BRING HIM SEVEN YEARS OF BAD LUCK?
SHUX!! ELMER DON'T KNOW THEY'S ENY SITCH THANG EZ GOOD LUCK..
56
..TH' ONLY REASON HE'S GONE BACK TO WORK.. IS T'GIT HISSELF MONEY ENUFF T'BUY ANOTHER LOOKIN'-GLASS! WHUT HE DON'T KNOW WON'T HURT HIM!!
YOU WIN!
I'M VERY DISAPPOINTED IN YOU, SKEETER! I NEVER THOUGHT YOU'D TELL ME, YOUR GRANDPA, A FALSEHOOD!
I'M SORRY, GRAMPS... I'LL NEVER DO IT AGAIN!!
SNIF! SNIF! SOB! SOB!
O.K! LETS FORGET IT THEN!! I KNOW YOU WON'T!! I HATE TO BE CROSS WITH YOU - BUT ITS FOR YOUR OWN GOOD!! UNDERSTAND?
SMACK!
UH HUH!
SOB'S SOB'S
Copr 1940, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved
I DON'T LIKE TO EVER HAVE TO SCOLD YOU ... BUT YOU KNOW WHAT HAPPENS TO LITTLE BOYS WHO TELL "FIBBS" .... DON'T YOU?
OH, SURE - SURE!!
..THEY GROW UP AND TELL THEIR LIL BOYS THAT THEY'LL HAVE CURLY HAIR, IF THEY EAT THEIR CRUSTS... ..N' STUFF LIKE THAT!!
57
SAY MUGGS! I'VE GOT TO LOOK UP SOME STUFF ABOUT WHALES FOR SCHOOL TOMORROW. DO YOU KNOW ANYTHING ABOUT WHALES?
WHAT DO YOU WANT TO KNOW?
Copr 1940 King Features Syndicate Inc., World rights reserved
WELL, F'INSTANCE, I KNOW THEY USE THE OIL FOR A LOT OF THINGS....BUT CAN YOU EAT WHALE FLESH?
SURE!! ESKIMAUX EAT IT ALL THE TIME!!
SAY!! BY-THE-WAY, HERE'S ANOTHER POINT!! DO YOU KNOW WHAT THEY DO WITH THE WHALES' BONES?
THE BONES? .. WHY.. AH.. I DUNNO..
58
..I SUPPOSE THEY JUST LEAVE 'EM ON THE SIDE OF THEIR PLATES!!



SAY! DO YOU SEE WHAT I SEE, DOWN ON THE CORNER?
SURE!! THAT'S RODNEY AND HIS BABY BROTHER.. "LITTLE BITS"!!
I KNOW... BUT WHAT ARE THEY DOING?
WHY, THE ROCK IS TEACHIN' "LITTLE-BITS" HOW TO THUMB A RIDE!!
HONK!
Copr 1940 King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved
..BUT WHY? WHY ON EARTH DOES HE DO A THING LIKE THAT?
THE ROCK THINKS THAT IF HE CAN GET HIS LIL' BROTHER INTERESTED IN HITCH-HIKIN'..
..IT WILL HELP CURE "LITTLE-BITS" OF SUCKIN' HIS THUMB!!
SHOO
BOY O-BOY!! YOU GET THE WORST REPORT CARDS I'VE EVER SEEN!! ACCORDING TO THIS, YOU'D HAVE TO STUDY TO BE A MORON!
AW! I'M NOT REALLY THAT DUMB, IT'S JUST THAT OL' TEACHER!
WELL, YOU'D BETTER GET BUSY 'N' CRACK SOME BOOKS BEFORE LONG... OR YOU'LL GET LEFT IN THAT FOURTH GRADE AGAIN!!
OH, I DON'T THINK SO.. I'M NOT WORRIED!!
..AND WHY NOT? THAT TEACHER MADE YOU TAKE THE WORK OVER AGAIN LAST YEAR!! AND YOU'RE STILL NOT GETTIN' ANYWHERE!!
I KNOW! BUT I FOUND OUT T'DAY THAT MY TEACHER IS A VEGETARIAN!
..SO FROM NOW ON I'M GOIN' TO BRING HER A CARROT EVERY MORNIN'!!
510
WELL FOR..
GEE, PEE WEE! WHAT ARE YOU DOIN' IN "THAT THING"?
AW, NOTHIN'!.. GO'WAY! DON'T STAND AROUND 'N STARE.. YOU'LL DRAW A CROWD!!
GO ON, SCRAM!! I'M JUST BEIN INITIATED INTO THE "BLOOD 'N' THUNDER PIRATE 'N ATHLETIC CLUB" .. THAT'S ALL!!
GOSH! HOW ARE YOU GETTIN' ALONG?
OH, I CAN'T KICK!!

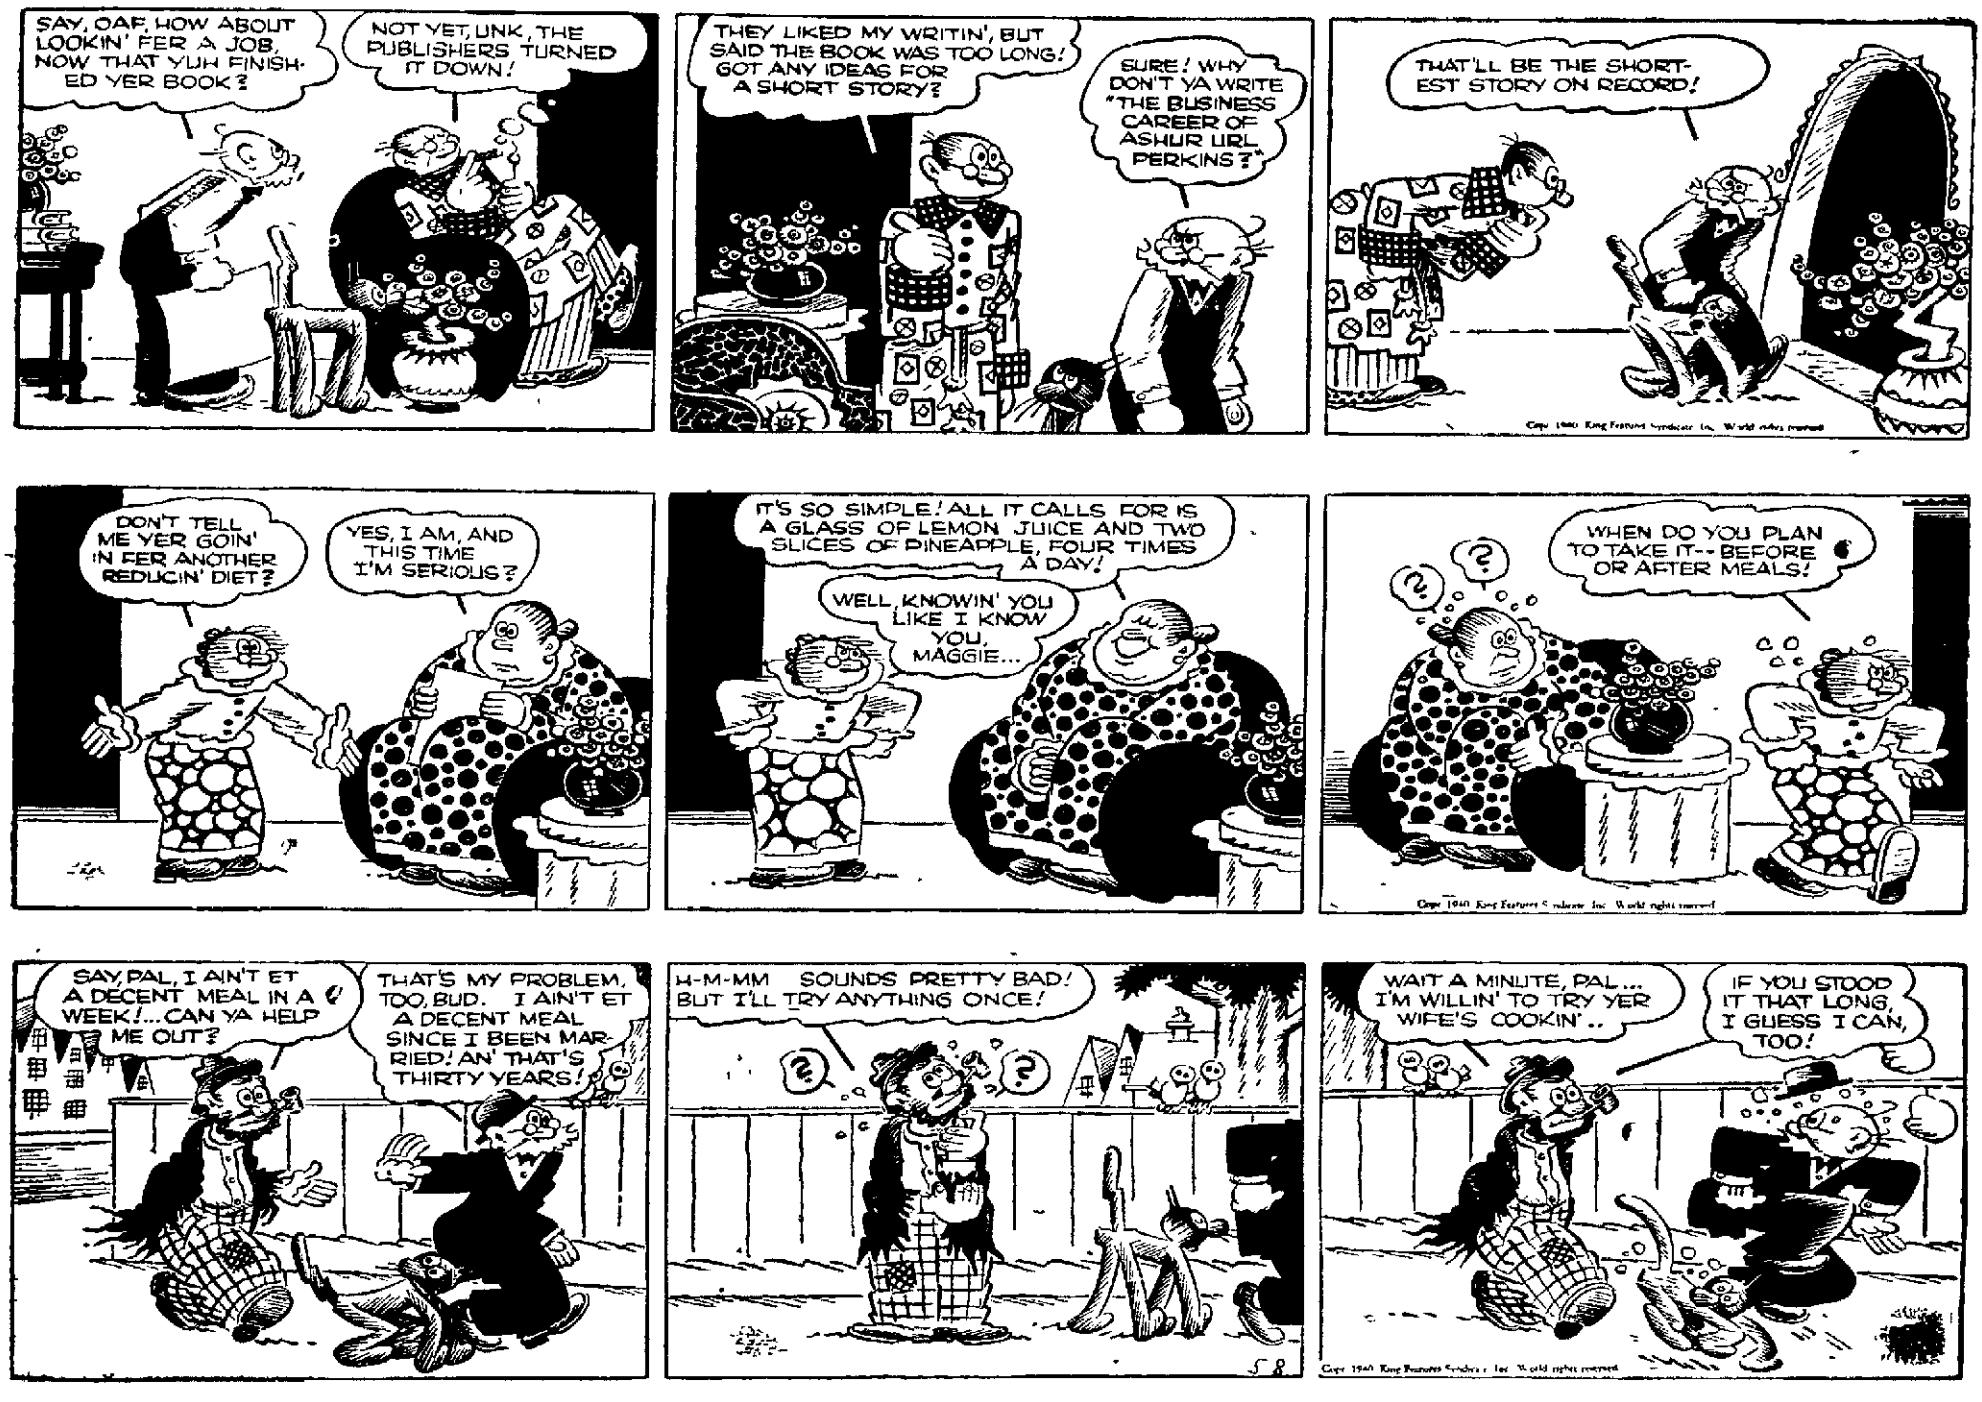
POLLY AND HER PALS



SAY, OAF, HOW ABOUT LOOKIN' FER A JOB, NOW THAT YUH FINISHED YER BOOK?
NOT YET, UNK, THE PUBLISHERS TURNED IT DOWN!
THEY LIKED MY WRITIN', BUT SAID THE BOOK WAS TOO LONG! GOT ANY IDEAS FOR A SHORT STORY?
SURE! WHY DON'T YA WRITE "THE BUSINESS CAREER OF ASHUR URL PERKINS?"
THAT'LL BE THE SHORTEST STORY ON RECORD!
DON'T TELL ME YER GOIN' IN FER ANOTHER REDUCIN' DIET?
YES, I AM, AND THIS TIME I'M SERIOUS?
IT'S SO SIMPLE! ALL IT CALLS FOR IS A GLASS OF LEMON JUICE AND TWO SLICES OF PINEAPPLE, FOUR TIMES A DAY!
WELL, KNOWIN' YOU LIKE I KNOW YOU, MAGGIE...
WHEN DO YOU PLAN TO TAKE IT-- BEFORE OR AFTER MEALS!
SAY, PAL, I AIN'T ET A DECENT MEAL IN A WEEK!...CAN YA HELP ME OUT?
THAT'S MY PROBLEM, TOO, BUD. I AIN'T ET A DECENT MEAL SINCE I BEEN MARRIED! AN' THAT'S THIRTY YEARS!
H-M-MM SOUNDS PRETTY BAD! BUT I'LL TRY ANYTHING ONCE!
WAIT A MINUTE, PAL... I'M WILLIN' TO TRY YER WIFE'S COOKIN'..
IF YOU STOOD IT THAT LONG, I GUESS I CAN, TOO!

AH! WOE IS ME!
WHAT'S AILIN' YUH, OAF?
MY GAL SAID 'NO' AGAIN. THIRD TIME SHE TURNED ME DOWN!
WHY, YUH LOONY LOUT-- YUH OUGHTA BE GLAD! YUH CAN'T AFFORD TO GET MARRIED!
WHO WANTS TO GET MARRIED?
ALL I WANTS IS TO GET BACK THE RING!
STILL BRINGIN' YER GIRL FLOWERS EVERY NIGHT, ASH?
SURE THING, UNK! WHAT'S MORE, I PROMISED HER WHEN WE'RE MARRIED SHE'LL GET THEM EVERY DAY!
D'YUH THINK YUH'LL BE ABLE TO KEEP THAT PROMISE, DOLT?
IF I DON'T, IT'LL BE HER FATHER'S FAULT... NOT MINE!
HOW COME?
YUH SEE, HE PROMISED TO GIVE ME HIS FLORIST SHOP AS A WEDDIN' PRESENT!
BUT HE'S SO BASHFUL... I'M AFRAID HE'LL NEVER PROPOSE!
WHY DON'T YUH GIT YER FATHER TO SOUND HIM OUT?
NOW TAKE ME, FER INSTANCE, I MIGHT STILL BE SINGLE, ONLY ONE DAY SUSIE'S OLD MAN SAID HE WANTED TO SPEAK TO ME ABOUT MY INTENTIONS!
SO THAT'S WHY YOU PROPOSED, SIMP...
AN' ALL FATHER WANTED TO KNOW WUZ YER INTENTIONS ABOUT PAYIN' UP YER LODGE DUES!

TOOTS AND CASPER

TOOTS YOU CAN'T BLAME ME IF SOME DAME I NEVER SAW, FALLS FOR ME AND WRITES ME A LOVE LETTER
WHAT BURNS ME UP IS THE NERVE OF HER! HOW CAN ANYONE BE SO BOLD?
Copr 1940 King Features Syndicate Inc World rights reserved
I WOULDN'T SWAP TOOTSIE'S LITTLE FINGER FOR ANY DAME ON EARTH BUT I'M GLAD THIS ALL HAPPENED! TOOTS WAS BEGINNING TO TAKE ME TOO MUCH FOR GRANTED AND THIS WILL WAKE HER UP! HA-HA
I HEARD THE MAIL-MAN'S WHISTLE, HONEY!
HOLD ON, CASPER! I'LL GET THE MAIL! YOU'RE TOO ANXIOUS!
YES, ANOTHER PERFUMED LETTER FOR YOU FROM HER! THE HUSSY! I'LL SEE WHAT SHE HAS TO SAY!
TOOTS, DON'TCHA KNOW YOU CAN BE PINCHED FOR OPENING OTHER PEOPLE'S MAIL?
JIMMY MURPHY
Dear Casper May I see you even for just a moment? I love you I'll drop in at 3 P M Thursday Please be there Devotedly Bertha
Copr 1940 King Features Syndicate Inc. World rights reserved
GOOD! I'M GLAD SHE'S COMING! WE'LL TEACH HER A GOOD LESSON.
WHADDEYE MEAN, "WE"? NO NEED OF A SCENE! I'LL TELL HER I'M MARRIED AND THAT'LL END IT!
I WON'T MAKE A SCENE! I'LL BE BEHIND THESE PORTIERS WHERE I CAN HEAR WHAT IS SAID WITHOUT BEING SEEN--WHILE YOU ANSWER THE DOOR! MAYBE WE'D BETTER REHEARSE IT!
DON'T ASK HER IN! JUST TALK TO HER AT THE DOOR---AND IF YOU DON'T GIVE HER THE WORST CALL-DOWN ON RECORD I'LL LEAVE YOU.
THIS IS LEAP YEAR, TOOTS, AND MAYBE SHE THINKS I'M SINGLE JIMMY MURPHY

THE GIRL WHO HAS FALLEN IN LOVE WITH CASPER WROTE HIM THAT SHE'D DROP IN NEXT THURSDAY TO GET ACQUAINTED ISN'T THAT ROMANTIC?
AND WHEN YOU'RE TALKING TO THE FRESH THING AT THE DOOR CASPER I'LL BE BEHIND THE PORTIERS LISTENING.
NO NEED OF INSULTING HER TOOTS! SHE'LL NOT BOTHER US AGAIN AFTER I EXPLAIN I'M MARRIED
Copr 1940 King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved
YOU'D BETTER BAWL HER OUT GOOD OR I'M GONE! I'LL TRY NOT TO MAKE A SCENE, BUT I WON'T PROMISE
TOOTSIE, BE A LADY AT ALL COSTS
DOGGONE I WISH TOOTS WOULD STAY OUT OF THIS! IT PUTS ME IN A SPOT AND THAT DAME, BERTHA, SURE IS WALKING INTO A TRAP
JIMMY MURPHY
I WONDER WHAT BERTHA LOOKS LIKE? FOR HER OWN SAKE I HOPE SHE'S NOT TOO GOOD LOOKING. HMM-M IF SHE'S PRETTY.... GOOD NIGHT!!!
IT'S 3. P.M., THE ZERO HOUR! YOUR FRESH GIRL FRIEND IS DUE HERE NOW CASPER
LET ME HANDLE HER, TOOTS, WHEN SHE ARRIVES--- I'LL GET RID OF HER FOR ONCE AND ALL
Copr 1940 King Features Syndicate Inc. World rights reserved
IT'S 3.30 NOW! SHE'D BETTER COME SOON, BECAUSE I'M GETTING MADDER EVERY MINUTE! MAYBE SHE GOT COLD FEET AND WON'T SHOW UP!
FOUR O'CLOCK, AND SHE'S NOT HERE YET! I'M GLAD SHE'S LATE! I'VE COOLED OFF NOW!
SH-HHH-H--- FOOTSTEPS--- SOMEONE IS AT THE DOOR---
IT'S HER! GET BACK, CASPER!!! I INTENDED TO LET YOU HANDLE HER, BUT I'M TOO FURIOUS!! I'LL ATTEND TO HER, MYSELF!
TOOTS, CONTROL YOURSELF--- DON'T TAKE HER HEAD OFF!!!
JIMMY MURPHY
MABEL-- DANNY--ER- I WAS EXPECTING SOMEONE ELSE...
TOOTS, I'M FURIOUS! A GIRL NAMED BERTHA WROTE DANNY SHE'S IN LOVE WITH HIM AND WOULD DROP IN AT 3 P.M. TODAY TO SEE HIM, BUT SHE DIDN'T SHOW UP--- CASPER GOT AN IDENTICAL LETTER FROM HER, TOO, BUT SHE DIDN'T SHOW UP HERE EITHER, MABEL...
WELL, OF ALL THINGS!
SHHH-- SOMEONE IS AT THE DOOR! IT MAY BE HER NOW---
Copr 1940, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved
TOOTS, I'M BOILING! A GIRL NAMED BERTHA WROTE COLONEL HOOFER THAT---- SHE'S IN LOVE WITH HIM AND WOULD DROP IN AT 3 P.M. TODAY TO SEE HIM, BUT SHE DIDN'T SHOW UP.
SAY, WHAT IS THIS, ANYWAY? A PRACTICAL JOKER MUST BE AT LARGE! I NEVER INTENDED TO GO IN FOR DETECTIVE WORK-- THERE ARE TOO MANY MYSTERIES IN THE WORLD, AS IT IS --- BUT I'M GONNA RUN THIS THING DOWN, DOGGONE IT!
JIMMY MURPHY
THOSE LOVE LETTERS, SIGNED "BERTHA", THAT I RECEIVED! DANNY GOT IDENTICAL ONES---SO DID AL SKIDDER AND COL HOOFER! SOMEBODY IS QUITE A KIDDER, TOOTS. BUT WHO?
I SHOULD HAVE KNOWN THAT NOBODY ELSE IS IN LOVE WITH YOU, DEAR!
Copr 1940, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved
IT SOUNDS LIKE A COLONEL HOOFER TRICK, BUT HE CAN'T BE GUILTY, BECAUSE HE RECEIVED SOME OF THE LETTERS, HIMSELF! HMM-M- I'LL COMPARE THESE LETTERS WITH THE HANDWRITING OF SOME OF MY FRIENDS.
'FESS UP, COLONEL HOOFER! YOU'RE THE GUY WHO WROTE ALL THOSE "BERTHA" LETTERS!
STOP, CASPER! YOU'RE CHOKING ME! I CONFESS! I DID IT TO GET EVEN WITH YOU FELLOWS FOR INFLUENCING MY WIFE TO MAKE ME GO TO WORK!
SURE, I SENT A FEW OF THE LETTERS TO MYSELF, TOO, SO I WOULDN'T BE SUSPECTED! AW, CAN'TCHA TAKE A JOKE?
THOSE LETTERS SURE MADE TOOTS JEALOUS, ANYWAY, AND I'M GLAD TO KNOW THAT AFTER ALL THESE YEARS SHE STILL THINKS THAT MUCH OF ME

Limbach Urges Davey Defeat at Tuesday Primaries

BACKS WHITE IN RACE FOR GOVERNORSHIP

State Democratic Chairman Asks Nomination of Man Who Can Be Elected.

(By United Press)

COLUMBUS—With the primary election only three days distant, Democratic State Chairman Arthur L. Limbach today urged defeat of former Governor Martin L. Davey in the party's gubernatorial contest and nomination of former Governor George White as the candidate with the best chance of unseating the Republican administration in November.

Limbach, in a statement issued from his home at New Philadelphia, predicted that Davey if nominated, would be "overwhelmingly defeated" in November and carry down with him other Democratic candidates.

"It is now apparent," he said, "that the only issue confronting the Democrats in this gubernatorial primary is whether or not Ex-governor Davey will be nominated.

"I make no attack on Mr. Davey when I state the simple truth, known to Democrats and Republicans alike, that if he is nominated, he will be overwhelmingly defeated in November and carry with him many fine Democratic candidates throughout the state whose margin of victory might be close."

Limbach declared that "George White is the man," with the best chance of any of the seven contestants for the nomination to defeat the governor, John Bricker.

He stressed that White could present an economy record which would compare favorably with any Bricker claim.

Limbach, entrusted with the chairmanship when National Committeeman Charles Sawyer defeated Davey for the nomination in 1938, said his endorsement of White was "personal" and that he felt he could properly take such a position as he expects to resign as chairman after the primary, irrespective of who the gubernatorial nominee will be.

Limbach's attitude was at variance with that assumed by Sawyer in remarks last night before the Democratic Duckworth club at Cincinnati when he again refused to state a preference for governor.

"Under the circumstances," said Sawyer, "I have only this advice to give to my Democratic friends as they go to the polls next Tuesday: Let your conscience and your good judgment be your guide—choose candidates whom the voters respect and we Democrats can elect."

New developments occurred on the Republican side with the dispatch of investigators by the senate campaign expenditures investigating committee to Ohio to inquire into conduct and methods used in the GOP senatorial campaign.

In Washington Chairman Guy M. Gillette, (D. Ia.), said that the committee's agents will investigate as one phase the distribution of sample ballots by Republican State Chairman Ed. D. Schorr and marked for Representative Dudley A. White, one of the three Republican senatorial aspirants.

Gillette pointed to an editorial in the Dayton Herald which described this procedure as "a sorry example of political intrigue on the part of Boss Schorr who has undertaken to dictate how they shall vote."

Gillette was quoted in Washington as saying that he had revealed this one charge only because it had already been printed in a newspaper.

Gillette admitted, according to Washington reports, that he did not know whether such a procedure was illegal under Ohio law, but said the committee is empowered to investigate any campaign for a federal office in connection with charges affecting the public interest.

Gillette was further quoted as saying that other complaints had been received regarding Ohio's campaign but that none concerned excessive or improper expenditures.

SUIT FILED

COLUMBUS—(AP)—A suit to compel Highway Director Robert S. Beightler to grant a contract for improvement of state highway 563 in Ashtabula County has been filed in common pleas court by the Holmes Construction Co. of Wooster. The firm asserted Beightler withdrew an agreement awarding it a contract on its bid of $172,962.

Up and Down THE STREET

When the Symposiarchs, (a group of college fraternity men) met this week they passed a resolution to ask the Chamber of Commerce to re-open its clearing house on dates of all events in the city. John G. Routzon of the C. of C. is eager to try it again, but he's going to have to have more co-operation than his predecessor had on the same project. Everyone thinks its a fine thing—but no one co-operates. The idea is for the Chamber to keep a calendar of all events scheduled in the city, so that when groups or organizations want a night that is free to put on some affair, they can call the Chamber and check the dates. The only way this clearing house can be a success is for all groups to call the Chamber and tell them when they have selected a date, whether it's a Community Play, benefit bridge or a dance. All you have to do is call the Chamber at Canal 1368.

Tired of hearing complaints about carnival patrons losing money at games and sideshows, Sheriff E. P. Long has adopted the policy of "every man for himself so long as he's willing to take a chance with his money." The sheriff said he will "not be interested in a case unless there is an obvious attempt to defraud or we have reports of boys and girls playing chance games. The average adult ought to be able to take care of himself."

FACES CHARGE

Motorist Accused of Ignoring Driving Suspension.

A motorist whose operator's license was revoked two months ago will face Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch in municipal court next Wednesday charged with driving his car in violation of the court order which prohibited him from driving for a year.

He is Joseph Kuelling, R. D. 2, Mansfield, whose license was revoked on March 18 when he was convicted on a charge of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of alcohol. Court records show he was also fined $25 and costs.

Kuelling was released today on a $500 bond after entering a not guilty plea.

He was arrested by State Highway Patrolman D. H. Cole on a warrant issued by municipal court yesterday. Cole applied for the warrant, he said, after Kuelling refused to accept a citation at his home Thursday.

HOLD 2 AFTER AUTO UPSETS

Loudonville Marshal Arrests Columbus Youths Allegedly Operating Stolen Car.

Captured in Loudonville early this morning less than an hour after the automobile in which they were riding turned over several times, two Columbus youths, 21 and 22, were to be turned over to Columbus authorities today to face charges of auto theft.

The pair was apprehended by Loudonville Night Marshal R. L. Schnittke shortly after he had been notified that a car in which two colored youths were riding, turned over on route 3, two miles north of the village.

The car in which they were riding, according to patrolmen, was reported stolen from Columbus. They were returning to Columbus when the accident happened.

After the accident, the youths were driven to Loudonville by Norris Bokum, of Mt. Vernon. They told Bokum they were going to a doctor, officers said.

The youths are held in Loudonville until the arrival of Columbus authorities.

DAVEY LAMBASTS BRICKER, THEN DEFENDS RECORD AS GOVERNOR

Claiming the greatest record of achievement of any Ohio governor and criticizing Gov. John W. Bricker for virtually everything he has done since he became governor, former Governor Martin L. Davey brought his campaign for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination to Mansfield last night in a talk at John Simpson junior high school.

Davey spoke before about 600 persons at an eight-county rally. On the program with him were Francis W. Durbin of Lima, candidate for congressman-at-large, and Ray Allison, seeking the Democratic nomination for secretary of state.

Davey continued the attack on Gov. Bricker that he started during the special 17th district congressional campaign in February, never mentioning the six Democrats who are opposing him for the nomination at the primary Tuesday.

At the end of an hour and a half talk, the former governor said, "I have plenty of ammunition left, but I'm going to save that for the fall campaign. I'm looking forward with a good deal of zest to facing Bricker in that campaign. I never saw a man who represents the things I dislike so much as he does."

He accused Gov. Bricker of being "inhuman in his treatment of the needy last winter and chiseling on the old age pensioners."

He called the governor a "sanctimonious hypocrite," "Bricker-the-Ripper," and "Bricker-the-Chiseler."

Davey said the governor "made much ado last summer over paying his way into the New York World's fair. That saved you taxpayers 75 cents. I don't believe in saving peanuts: I believe in saving where it counts."

Davey defended his "hot mix" road program as "the best and most inexpensive Ohio ever had" and accused the "cement trust" of "starting the tirade" that resulted in an investigation of the sale of "hot mix" materials to the state during his administration.

In a brief talk, Durbin, the congress-at-large candidate, who is also a candidate for delegate to the Democratic national convention, said he would go to Chicago "to vote for a third term for President Roosevelt, and if he doesn't want it, for anyone he chooses to succeed him."

Davey was introduced by Judge Walter Mougey of Wooster. R. N. Landfair, East Mansfield, presided and introduced 18 other candidates for county, district and state offices who were seated on the stage.

TWO NEW CASES

Tuberculosis Cases In County Increase to 17 Since Jan. 1.

Two new cases of tuberculosis have been found in Richland county, a report of the monthly diagnostic chest clinic held at the General hospital yesterday under the direction of Dr. T. L. Bliss of Akron, disclosed today.

Dr. Roy C. Rehder, city-county health commissioner, said one of the new cases was located in the city and one in the county. The two cases bring to 17 the number of cases discovered in the county since Jan. 1.

Of the 24 suspects examined at the clinic yesterday, 22 showed a negative test, the commissioner said. One case under suspicion was rechecked while one of the new cases was recommended to the county commissioners for sanitorial care.

SHIPS GUARD AGAINST ANY NAZI ATTACK

Danish Minister Asks American Protection of Territory; British at Iceland.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON — United States government vessels are patrolling Greenland shipping lanes watchful for any attempt to seize Denmark's huge Arctic territory, it was learned on excellent authority today.

Speedy coast guard cutters, augmented by destroyers composing the navy's neutrality force are maintaining the vigil. Within the next few weeks, additional coast guard ships will depart from New England for ice patrol duty in the north. These ships also will keep a sharp eye out for anything "unusual," according to officials.

Invasion of Denmark by the Nazi war machine raised the question of whether the bleak Danish Islands north of Canada should be embraced in the Monroe doctrine which forbids foreign acquisition of territory within the western hemisphere.

Yesterday, President Roosevelt was given a tacit invitation to furnish American protection to Greenland against invasion from Germany.

Henrik De Kauffmann, the Danish minister to the United States, called at the White House to present a resolution adopted by the Greenland parliament soliciting aid against aggression.

"It is our hope that, for as long as we remain cut off from our mother country, the United States will continue to hold in mind the exposed position of the Danish flag in Greenland, of the native and Danish population and of established order," the resolution read.

(Editor's Note—A British force yesterday landed at Iceland, an independent territory which pledges fealty to the Danish king. The British said they took this action to protect Iceland from invasion.

Seriously Injured When Auto Hits Bridge Abutment.

MILLERSBURG—Bruce Farver and Robert Hitchcock, of Millersburg, were seriously injured early today when they lost control of the automobile in which they were riding, two and one-half miles south of here on the Killbuck road, and crashed into a bridge abutment.

Farver, driver of the car, is the son of Mrs. Ferne Farver, and is unconscious at the Millersburg hospital. Hitchcock, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Hitchcock, is also in a serious condition.

Farver was driving a new automobile, owned by his employer, C. H. DeWitt, Millersburg druggist. The car was demolished.

The youths were returning home from Glenmont and Killbuck where they had taken their companions home following a Millersburg high school alumni dance.

GIRL, 22, DIES OF PNEUMONIA

Phyllis Mae Williams of Pavonia, Had Been Ill 3 Days.

Phyllis Mae Williams, 22, of Pavonia, died Friday afternoon in the New London hospital following a brief illness of pneumonia. She became ill last Wednesday.

Born April 13, 1918, in Pavonia, Miss Williams spent her life in that community. She was a graduate of Weller Township high school.

Surviving are her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas B. Williams, three half-brothers and a half-sitser. Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p. m. Monday at the Pavonia Methodist church with Rev. F. M. Dickey, officiating. Burial will be in Pavonia cemetery.

WEATHER STAYS ON COOL SIDE

Frosts Likely Over Week-End Forecast Says.

Continued cool weather is predicted for the week-end with unclouded skies likely to bring light frosts.

Furnaces, which have been going continuously since last fall, were stoked vigorously again last night as unseasonably cold weather persisted.

A maximum temperature of 63 yesterday and 35 low last night still made the average of 49 ten degrees below ten 59 average for the past 15 years.

Although the sun was bright this morning the temperature remained at 39.

Not That It Matters

A Thought on Voting In Primaries, Neglected by Too Many 'Good Citizens'

—By JANE WILLIAMS

I NEVER VOTE in the primaries," a Mansfield man told me this week. Otherwise he's a pretty good citizen and the father of two small children.

His attitude reflects that of too many "otherwise good citizens." The primary elections were instituted some years ago—after violent argument and protests—as a means of more fully expressing the wishes of the voters. The primary serves two purposes: it gives voters an opportunity to select candidates other than those proposed by political "machines," and it provides the means of weeding out by elimination undesirable candidates.

The primaries serve those two purposes only when a sufficient number of citizens get out and vote. The primary elections cost just as much whether or not you vote. It has always seemed to me that the primaries are more important than the general elections, because they give voters an opportunity to get rid of the candidates they don't want in the general elections.

Every parent should be interested in voting in the primaries next Tuesday because this is the year that a probate judge is elected for a four-year term. Remember the probate judge in Mansfield and Richland county is also the juvenile judge, and handles all cases pertaining to juvenile delinquency and children in broken homes.

You can't sniff and say "MY child will never come in contact with the juvenile court," because you don't know. You don't know what will happen to your child in the next four years, and it is most important that the probate judge be a man who is neither a buck-passer on tough problems and tough kids, nor a hard-nosed gaffer who doesn't remember the problems of youth.

Even if a citizen has no interest in the affairs of his state or his nation, he certainly can't be indifferent to the needs of his city. If he doesn't know the candidates on his party's ballot, he can ask someone who does.

* * *

IF YOU notice a prideful strut in my walk it's because of a new namesake. The William MacDonalds of Cleveland put out their "first edition" this week and the front page mast head is "Jane Allyn MacDonald." You will remember Mrs. MacDonald as Helen Allyn of the Cleveland Press who exchanged jobs with your Main Street correspondent two years ago this month. If Helen is in any way disappointed in her first edition, it is because there aren't five Jane Allyns. The first American newspaper woman to reach the Dionne homestead after the birth of the famous quints, she always declared she would love to have a "five star final" edition herself.

The first touch of public in the MacDonald home probably will change her mind about that.

L. B. writes me a new thought on the traffic problem. He points out that Marion, Galion and Ashland have free city parking lots which invite tourists to stop and lure shoppers to the downtown district.

"Why are these towns so much more progressive than Mansfield in regard to handling the traffic and parking problems?" he asks. "Mansfield has a municipal airport on which we have spent several hundred thousand dollars, to provide a place for a few planes, yet we haven't spent a cent to provide a parking place for thousands of autos which are far more important to the city. If we had only a small fraction of that money invested in parking lots, our problem would be solved."

It is pretty generally admitted that downtown parking lots would go a long way in solving the parking problem. At least they would provide space for the cars of downtown workers which now take up most of the available parking space throughout the day.

IN THE test of army rifles this week army officials announced that it had worked perfectly "under combat conditions, scoring 16 bulls-eyes out of 16 shots."

"Combat conditions" on an army rifle range are considerably different than those encountered on the muddy fields of France, as any World war veteran of the trenches will tell you. The real test of an army rifle comes when it has been through rain and mud and no time to oil it or clean it.

They didn't find that out in the last war until it was too late to do anything about it.

Hollywood Speaks---

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Andre Kostelanetz was in town the other day. I know that because I saw him and talked to him at his Hollywood apartment, where the 'phone kept ringing and the doorbell kept buzzing and a secretary came and went and a servant or two passed unobtrusively to and fro.

As to where the peripatetic composer and conductor is today, and where he will be tomorrow, your guess is probably better than mine. He may be in your home town for all I know.

Andre, or "Kosty," as his friends dub him, is a clock-watcher. For those who like sentimentally to think of musicians as garret dreamers, this is disquieting, but it goes to show what the modern whirl has done to some musicians. Kosty wears a wrist watch, gift of the madam (Lily Pons), and it is a beauty, with the letters of his name in place of figures around the dial. The dots of phosphorus on the two hands, however, are Kosty's own idea—"to tell time at night."

The generally hectic pace about the Kostelanetz fourth-floor office-home had settled down into a mild bedlam, to quote Archie Mayo's immortal phrase, and Kosty was relaxed. He is a shortish, chubby, bland fellow, alert, bespectacled, his generous baldpate sun-pinked. He wears slacks and a rough linen sports shirt, and one leg straddles the chair-arm at those odd moments when he is not answering the 'phone or buzzer.

Everything was practically ready for his departure by plane for Minneapolis, where he would conduct the symphony orchestra in a concert. (Miss Pons would meet him there, coming up from New Orleans) before flying back to Hollywood. He had bought space on two returning planes, in order to be sure to arrive here in time for rehearsal before going on the air with his weekly program. Immediately after the broadcast he would fly to a Denver concert, and there was a Chicago engagement, and all in all he would cover about 12,000 miles within 10 days, which wears me out just thinking about it. Not so this Kosty—"I'm accustomed to it: it's all a matter of planning, and flying, and making connections," he said casually. "The most I've ever been late was three or four hours, and that only once."

He has traveled, the air lines tell him, about 400,000 air miles in the five years he has been trying to be everywhere at once. The miles include flying trips to visit Miss Pons, who likewise covers territory but generally by rail.

The musical couple have a farmhouse at Silver Mine, Conn., to which they retire when schedules permit. They spent Christmas Eve there, and will be together again there by May 15, if plans work out. Lily has christened the place "Gentil Homiere," meaning something like "pleasant little retreat."

I had to laugh at Kosty's so far ungratified desire:

"I want to see what America looks like. We toured New Hampshire during our last vacation, and it was beautiful. I want to see the rest of the country."

This from one of the country's most traveled men!

TAX RECEIPTS SHRINK $7,000

Drop Due to Stocking Up With New Style Stamps.

Sales tax receipts in Richland county for the last week of April dropped off more than $7,000 from the corresponding week last year, but State Treasurer Don Ebright said the comparison is not a fair one, since vendors were stocking up with new style stamps late in April last year.

Tax receipts for the final week of last month were $10,494 as compared to $17,664 for the same week last year. Every county in Ohio showed a decline and the total drop was $677,000.

Despite the county's sharp drop, receipts to May 1 amounted to $173,129 for a gain of $26,300 over the first four months of 1939.

'Mother' to Be Theme Of Services In City Churches Tomorrow

Special Programs Including Musical Numbers, Recitations and Sermons Scheduled for Congregations.

"Mother" will be the general theme of services in most of Mansfield's churches tomorrow as they join congregations throughout the country in the annual observance of Mothers' Day.

Churches will observe the day during both the Sunday school and worship service hours with special programs including recitations, sermons and vocal and instrumental music.

St. John's Evangelical.

St. John's Evangelical church will observe Mothers' Day during a combined Sunday school and church service at 9 a. m., in charge of the Sunday school class taught by George Keil, with Orland Mott as leader.

Fred Haag, a member of the church and student at Ashland college seminary, will be the speaker. The program includes a selection, "God Bless America" by the Sunday school orchestra, directed by Albert Kraus; "Our Mother's Prayer" sung by the junior choir; "Home and Mother" played by the Hydn trio, comprised of Joseph and Frank Pival and Ann Jeanette Klinger; solo, "Through the Years" by Donald McLaughlin; poem, "My Mother" by Martin Wagner.

Baptism of children will be conducted by the pastor, Rev. Paul H. Saleste, who will also present a gift to the oldest and youngest mother present. Mrs. Helen Heston, organist, will present the offertory solo.

St. Paul Lutheran.

Mrs. Richard C. Olin will give a talk on "Mothers of Persia" at the service during the Sunday school hour at 9 a. m. tomorrow at the St. Paul Lutheran church. The junior choir will sing an anthem, and Miss Jane Weuthrick will present a soprano solo. A committee comprised of Mr. and Mrs. Roland Stahl, Edward Beilstein, Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Seybold and Miss Weuthrick is in charge of arrangements.

A service of confirmation for nine young people will feature the morning service at 10 a. m. Rev. Herman L. Gilbert, pastor, will speak on "What Can Happen After Confirmation." A memorial gift will be dedicated at this service.

The annual covered dish supper and program for women and daughters of the church will be held at 6:30 p. m. Tuesday. Four committees from the Guild are in charge of arrangements. Committee chairmen are Mrs. Charles Robertson, Mrs. D. L. Borchardt, Mrs. H. L. Gilbet and Mrs. Floyd O'Brien. A pantomine depicting the stages of motherhood will be a feature of the program.

Frank Miller, jr., will act as leader of a meeting of the Lutheranites at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday and Frederick Heuss will preside during the business session. The Thursday Nighters, young people of the church, will hold a covered dish supper and program at the church at 6.30 p. m. Thursday. Mr. and Mrs. Roland Stahl, Miss Daisy Schuff and James Wappner are in charge.

Park Avenue Baptist.

"Youth Emphasis" Sunday is to be held during the morning service of worship at 10:30 tomorrow at the Park Avenue Baptist church, in conjunction with the observance of Mothers Day.

The senior choir, directed by Lawrence S. Frank, will sing "Oh Blessed Day of Motherhood." Mrs. Wayne Williams and Clara Belle Merryman will sing an anthem composed by Frank, and Rev. Hayes M. Braker, pastor, will speak. Frank will play as his organ selections, "Largo," "Lullaby" and "Finale" from "The First Symphony."

Mrs. May Pyle Andrews of Ashland, will be guest speaker of the annual mother-daughter dinner at 6:30 p. m. Wednesday at the church. Mrs. James Dickson and Miss Edna May Boswell will furnish music; Mrs. Harold E. Neese will act as toastmistress and Mrs. James Keith will give the response. Mrs. Alfred M. Colby is program committee chairman and Mrs. Russell Haman is chairman of the supper committee. The Women's Missionary group and World Wide Guilds sponsor the dinner.

Class meetings scheduled for next week are the Samaritan class at 2:30 p. m. Tuesday with Mrs. Roy Crider, 396 Springmill street, and the Amoma class at 7:30 p. m. Friday with Mrs. Ralph Devers, 171 West Second street.

Mansfield News-Journal

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, SATURDAY, MAY 11, 1940.

Drive carefully tomorrow—and remember that a stop sign means STOP.

Observers contend that the youth movement is least noticeable at getting up time in the morning.

You remember, of course, that it is a BLACK lead pencil that must be used to mark a ballot—one Mansfield voter regularly uses a fountain pen and another prefers a colored pencil—but that wouldn't be YOU.

Your Mother's Special Day

WILLINGNESS with which millions of people of the United States join each year in observance of Mother's day evidences one of the finer traits of character which have evolved during the progress of civilization.

"Mother love" has long been regarded as the greatest of human emotions, and the most lasting family tie. It is in reciprocation of this love, and sometimes belated appreciation of a mother's sacrifices for her children, that the second Sunday in May has been designated each year since 1906 as Mother's day.

As with many movements which later grew into national acceptance, the idea of Mother's day started with one person, Miss Anna Jarvis, of Philadelphia, whose first thought went no further than to choose a day on which to give special attention to her own mother.

Friends learned of it, however, and the idea appealed to them. So it came about that by 1914 Mother's day was given national recognition and has since gained steadily in public observance.

The thought is sometimes expressed that, in more recent years, Mother's day has been made an occasion of overcommercialism, but while suitable gifts are an appropriate expression of remembrance, these are of secondary importance to the real intent, which is that each son and daughter make a special effort to add to their mother's happiness on this day, either by their own presence, a gift, letter, telegram—or whatever form the expression of love and appreciation may best take.

The time may come when Mother's day, as it is now observed, will be broadened into a "Home Festival day," as has been suggested by the Federal Council of Churches in America and the Greater New York Federation of Churches. This would be with a view to emphasizing the home as a unit and making it an occasion for family gatherings at which equal recognition could be given to both parents.

For the present, however, Mother's day will retain its accustomed place on the calendar—and tomorrow is the day.

Long Life of Faithful Service

EXCEPT for the sadness associated with parting from a long-time friend, the passing of Daniel J. Smith from earthly life will bring the thought to many who knew him that this is no more than a stepping forward to receive the well-earned reward of a good life.

Whatever approach to an unattainable perfection can be made by men, the day after day life of Mr. Smith, as he went along the years from youth to old-age, might well be chosen as a model in right-living and in achieving the contentment and happiness to which all mankind aspires.

Notable in Mr. Smith's career was the long period of regular employment which extended from boyhood tasks, through 'teen-age teaching, and finally to a position of responsibility and trust with the Albert F. Remy company, in which he continued for almost a half century.

But however capable and dependable he was in his work, it was the fineness of his home life, his church and Sunday school activities, and his great interest in the welfare of other people that won for him a place of high esteem and sincere affection among all who knew him.

His faithful service for twenty-five years, as superintendent of the First Lutheran Sunday school, and afterward as the teacher of a class, will long to be a cherished memory by the thousands who thus came within the influence of his leadership in Christian living—for Mr. Smith's teaching was by example, even more than by precept.

For those in whom the physical life is so closely linked with the spiritual phase of existence as was evidenced at all times by Mr. Smith, death can be no more than an untroubled transition into the eternal life toward which his faith had confidently pointed the way.

Man-Made Raw Materials

SOME of the synthetic products created by modern chemistry are better than the natural products they imitate or supplant. The new chemically-evolved "rubbers" are far more expensive than real rubber, but the cost of their production will no doubt be lowered and, even before that time, they may be worth their cost because of their superiority. They resist the decomposition caused by gasoline, acid and light. They shed water more effectively than rubber, and they outwear metal.

All of this suggests to the New York Times that the chemist is actually "easing us into a new age—an age in we shall make raw materials to suit ourselves instead of digging them out of the ground or taking them from animals and plants."

And what then of the problem of the "haves" and the "have-nots?" Laboratories and chemists will be more useful to a nation than "lebensraum" or colonies. This is probably true already, although many people and rulers don't know it.

Taken-for-Granted Service

ONE of the conveniences taken for granted by Americans and regarded with deep respect by foreigners is the gasoline filling station. There's nothing just like it anywhere else. Not only does the station offer gas, and oil, and water, and minor repairs for the motorist's car. It gives also a distinctive brand of cheerful personal service, information, road maps, and conversation.

Stations are mostly clean and attractive. Many of them these days have space devoted to flowers and grass and there is a tendency to be less cluttered with all sorts of advertising signs and miscellaneous junk.

In the early days of motoring drivers had to carry along their extra fuel, bought at a hardware store, or walk home if their supply ran out during a drive. The walk wasn't so bad, perhaps, because the distance was rarely great in the days when a trip of more than a few miles was exceptional.

It is believed that the first drive-in filling stations appeared in 1907 or thereabouts. The St. Louis Post-Dispatch claims for Clemens H. Laessig, who died recently, the invention of the first gas station. It seems likely that others may have had a similar inspiration about the same time.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—The impression you get of Bill Terry and Leo Durocher after reading the sports pages isn't to be relied on too implicitly. As managers of the Giants and the Dodgers they are supposed to be implacable enemies with a craving to see blood spilled every time they see each other.

Actually, they live at the same hotel and are the best of friends. It is true that Terry will not speak to Durocher on those days when Durocher's Hooligans whip the Giants, but neither will Durocher speak to Terry when the Dodgers are defeated.

These little brief flurries of coolness are spell-binders for those who observe them, after hours, in their hotel. After their first meeting of the year, during which the Dodgers gave the Giants a humiliating 12-0 beating, Durocher planted himself in the lobby and waited for Bill to arrive. Bill showed up presently in something of a somber funk. Durocher, who is known affectionately to his ball playing pals as "Lippy," immediately began making gloating remarks. He stood there with a grin that stretched to the back of his neck, rubbing it in. "Sweet William," as the sports writers dub Terry, swept right on by without appearing to notice this gad-fly. Next day they were back in their usual moods. Come a day—if ever—that the Giants take the Dodgers and the scene will be re-enacted in reverse. But those flare-ups never last more than a few hours.

BONNIE BAKER, the miniature Oh-Johnny-Oh Girl, was genuinely bewildered by a story that appeared in the papers about her recently. This story said she and Orrin Tucker couldn't get married because Orrin's family objected to the match. When I asked her about it, she said: "Everybody thinks we are married, or engaged, or in love. I've been with Orrin four years, working with the band. We're good fiends, but that's all. You might even say we're too close for anything else. I'm not married. I'm not engaged. I'm not in love. I'm just one of the guys in the band."

A NOTE from "Dude" Higgs says he will come back to America if he ever can find a way to get out of China. Higgs is an American flier who has been training Chinese aviators for their fight with Japan. Once, when he passed through French Indo-China, the French customs officials squeezed the toothpaste out of his tube. "I think they were looking for the Eiffel tower," he says. The most startling news in the note is about a "gift" that one of his grateful Chinese students sent him. He thought it would be a piece of jade, or something similar. But when the gift got there it came in under its own power. It was a concubine. Higgs politely put her on the train back to Shanghai that afternoon.

THAT TIRED SPRING FEELING

Policy and Personality the Issue

By GUS W. DYER,
Professor of Economics and Sociology, Vanderbilt University.

THERE is danger that the discussion of a question of a third term for a president will overshadow the real issue facing the people at this time.

That issue is the question of a "third term" for the economic policies of the present administration. It is no exaggeration to say that we have never before in our history had an issue so important. It cannot be evaded; it cannot be deferred; it must be met.

In the election of 1932, the voters knew nothing of the New Deal or of New Deal economics. The New Deal came into power on a Constitutional Democratic platform, pledged to economy in government. In the election of 1936 the objectives of the New Deal were veiled as "emergency measures" that would pass out with the depression and the return of normal business activities.

The results of the wild, socialistic experiments in the realm of economic quackery have now been fully demonstrated to those who have the mental capacity to comprehend simple things.

THE issue therefore is: Shall the American people endorse and continue radical experiments that have failed miserably, or shall they return to economic sanity and constitutional security and thereby lead the country back to he road of economic prosperity and real industrial progress?

This country had eight depressions before the depression of 1929. Some of these depressions were very serious and worldwide in extent. In all of them our government confined its activities to its limited constitutional authority and permitted business leaders to lead business out of the depression. They never failed.

In every case, business came out of the depression stronger and more efficient than it had ever been before. In no case did we come out of a depression with an unemployment problem nor a relief problem. In no case was the public debt appreciably increased.

BETWEEN 1882 and 1916 the public debt was never as much as two billion dollars. The annual increase of the public debt to keep up the spending program of the New Deal has been between three and four billion dollars.

In seven years the New Deal has added 24 billion dollars to the bublic debt which is now nearly 48 billion dollars. The annual deficit of between three and four billion dollars, the unemployment of from ten to 12 million workers and millions on relief rolls seem to be permanent with no solution for the destructive problem in sight. Do the American people endorse this condition of chaos and desire its continuance?

The president's words, acts and attitudes seem to indicate a concept of American constitutional government differing from that of the highest authorities who have interpreted our Constitution from the beginning of our history down to the present administration.

The attempt to subordinate the Supreme Court to the executive suggests that it is the president's purpose to transfer supreme authority to interpret constitutional rights from the Court where it is placed by he Constitution to the administration in power.

To destroy the authority of the Supreme Court is to destroy the Constitution. The supreme authority of an independent Court over the liberties of the people is the very substance of the Constitution.

The people must also register their opinions on this issue as the question is a vital part of the whole program of economic and social experimentation which, the framers of the program, in the days of early promise proudly dubbed the "New Deal."

Listen, World!

Should You Expect the Other Fellow To Live Up To Your Ideals?

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

YOU'RE MAD. Somebody has disappointed you terribly—failed to live up to your ideals.

So now you're shocked, hurt, disgusted—plenty peeved; for this offense wasn't a common misdemeanor. You trusted him. You believed in him. You believed that he would fit a certain noble pattern of life.

It was a high honor to expect him to do that. It put a big responsibility on him. He should have been grateful.

But he wasn't! Instead, he disregarded your ideals entirely and yielded to his own impulses.

Yes: he broke faith with you, and with the finer things of life. So, of course, you have a right to be righteously indignant.

He imposed on you, you say to yourself. He abused your confidence and betrayed your faith. He was an ingrate and a cheat. And now you despise him. You try to make him feel like thirty cents. And you're bitterly sorry about yourself.

You go around telling people what a terrible person he turned out to be, and how badly he used you.

You say, "Well, you can't expect to make a silk purse out of a sow's ear; and it doesn't do to throw pearls before swine."

That's how you feel about someone who fails to live up to your ideals.

But how do you get that way? Where do you get the big idea that your ideals are the only true and beautiful pattern of life?

You act as if you had cornered the ten commandments—but why? Don't you know that our ideals are all-of-a-piece with the rest of us; that they correspond with our general development?

There is no such thing as a fixed ideal for human behavior; no unchangeable standard of right and wrong. Each man makes his own ideals according to his own capacity, and changes them with his spiritual development.

You realize that your capacity is limited in other respects. You readily admit that you don't know the ultimate truth about engineering, agriculture, science or art. And yet, with never a doubt, you set yourself up as an authority on righteousness, and speak of your "ideals" a though you had a copyright from God.

Piffle! A man's idea is only his own personal notion of goodness, which may, or may not be, so hot.

So perhaps your ideals were a great gift to your friend, and again, perhaps they wern't. But even if they were noble and beautiful, who gave you the right to hang them on him? Who appointed you to show other people how to live?

He didn't live up to your ideals, and as a matter of fact, he wouldn't be worth a hoot if he had lived up to them. Each man must make and live up to his own ideals; and his right to make a mistake is as sacred as his right to succeed. For we learn as much—perhaps more—through failure as we do through success.

So no one has "failed" you or "cheated" you or been ungrateful to you. You haven't a particle of excuse for self pity. If your feelings were hurt, that's just your bad luck. You had no right to have such feelings.

And as for defending the finer things of life—baloney!

You're not indignant because some one has done righteous dirt. YOU'RE JUST MAD BECAUSE YOU CAN'T HAVE YOUR OWN WAY.

Reminder On Debt.

The national debt on Friday, according to the Treasury report, stood at $42,614,212,683.71. This was $2,558,368,020 more than it was on the same day a year ago.

It was $20,075,510,519 more than on June 30, 1933, when the New Deal was getting under way.

It was $17,132,178,274 more than on June 30, 1919, the high peak reached during the World war.

It was $25,812,727,540 more than on June 30, 1930, the low point in the years immediately following the World war.

Said Franklin D. Roosevelt in a speech in Pittsburgh on Oct. 19, 1932, when he was a candidate for the presidency in his campaign against Herbert Hoover: "If the nation is living within its income, its credit is good. If in some crisis it lives beyond its income for a year or two, it can usually borrow temporarily on reasonable terms. But if, like the spendthrift, it throws discretion to the winds, is willing to make no sacrifice at all in spending, extends its taxing up to the limit of people's power to pay, and continues to pile up deficits, it is on the road to bankruptcy."—Baltimore Sun.

Everyday Poem

—By GEORGE ELLISTON

They Are So Young.

Do not be stern with them, they are
So young. As yet, what do
They know of life, how weary it
Can be? Life is so new.

I grant you they are brave, so brave.
They are assured They go
With laughter on their lips, prepared.
They think, for all they'll know,

It is but seeming, all of this,
Untried they are, they live
In dreams. Be kind, for all too soon
What time to all must give.

The struggle and the darker side.
Must come, and then the test.
So as they clasp their joy today
Give them but smiles, your best.

Summary of Week's Happenings

—By ASSOCIATED PRESS

EUROPE'S war spread with amazing speed into neutral Holland, Belgium and little Luxembourg yesterday as the armies of Hitler made ferocious attacks by land while sea and air forces continued battering away at the Allies.

Military resources of Holland and Belgium offered immediate resistance and attempted to stem the tide until British and French forces could be brought to their aid. Luxembourg, without means of defense, asked France for protection.

Various interpretations were given this latest Nazi move, with belief expressed in Paris that events were moving toward "the most gigantic battle of all time," with invasion of France and England as Hitler's real objectives.

While war was spreading to new points Great Britain was striving for more unified support of its war program than had been evidenced during the week's debates in parliament and the day ended with the resignation of Neville Chamberlain as prime minister and Winston Churchill accepting the heavy responsibility of forming a new cabinet.

Mediterranean Move.

Several of the Allies' Mediterranean warships were shifted to Alexandria to be (1) near Italy's Dodecanese Islands, and (2) on the east side of the bottleneck from Italy's toe to north Africa.

Among Europe's small neutrals—who were desperately busy this week reinforcing borders—Britain's prestige dropped to a new low. Hungary, Bulgaria and Yugoslavia showed no glee when England offered armed aid. Germans reportedly asked Hungary for a right of way into the Balkans; and Yugoslavs seemed most interested in getting a Russian offer.

British Inquest.

Capt. Henry Margesson, suave, sallowish government whip in Britain's house of commons had a bad week. It fell to him to ride herd over grumbling conservative M. P.'s who refused to stomach the cabinet's handling of the Norwegian campaign.

On a "no confidence" vote Wednesday night Chamberlain was upheld 281-to-200. Many Conservatives who didn't care to defy Margesson were among the 130-odd M.P.'s who neglected to vote. Since Chamberlain was not backed by a majority of the whole house, advisors urged him to rebuild his cabinet lest he be forced to resign.

At Home

Oil Opinion.

All price-fixing agreements are unlawful, the U. S. Supreme Court ruled this week. Thereupon it fined 12 major oil companies and two individuals for conspiring to control the price of midwest gasoline. Justice Douglas delivered the court's 67-page opinion, longest in years. Said he:

"Even though the members of the price-fixing group were in no position to control the market, to the extent that they raised, lowered or stabilized prices they would be directly interfering with the free play of market forces.

"The Sherman Act (forbidding combinations in restraint of interstate commerce) places all such schemes beyond the pale. . . ."

Sinclair Signs.

On March 18, 1938, the Mexican government expropriated all foreign-owned oil lands in Mexico. A long and bitter dispute between Mexico and the U. S. followed.

Standard Oil of N. J., American company most affected, tried to hold all of the companies united for dealings with the Mexican government. But this week a break in the ranks appeared.

The Sinclair interests, said the Mexican government, had agreed to settle their differences with Mexico. Sinclair, it was reported, agreed to buy $54,000,000 worth of oil from Mexico during three years.

Bombing Accuracy.

U. S. army aviators practice what is called "precision" bombing. They aim at what they want to hit. European war fliers, it is said, employ "pattern" bombing. They sow bombs over the immediate area of the target on the theory that one may hit the objective.

Major General H. H. Arnold, air corps chief, told a Senate appropriations subcommittee last weekend that photographic evidence indicates that the American fliers are much more accurate. One reason for the superiority, he said, is that U. S. fliers use a secret bomb sight.

People

No High Hats for Elmer.

When 25,000,000 fewer Americans than expected showed up at the grandiose New York World's Fair last summer, worried officials called in Elmer, the average guy, who seldom has more than $10 in his pocket. After hearing Elmer's diagnosis, they spent $8,000,000 to convert the fair from a colossus of culture to "the biggest darn county fair there ever was."

At the fair's opening this weekend visitors saw no high hats, a zipped up play zone, and greatly reduced price signs. Ten of last year's nations had disappeared but Czecho-Slovakia, Finland and Poland were still there. Two weeks from now the San Francisco Golden Gate Exposition will make its 1940 debut.

Advice to Women.

"Don't go to work with a run in your stocking," Mrs. Ruth Hughes, president of the Los Angeles chapter, told the California federation of legal secretaries. "Psychologists say that no man can keep his mind on his work and on a run in a woman's stocking at the same time."

Ohio Anecdotes

Old St. John's Churchyard.

THE churchyard of St. John's parish at Worthington, Ohio, which contains some of the oldest burials in Franklin county, has a tombstone for Col. James Kilbourne, founder of that village.

The tombstone is of the old style, a large marble slab, lying prone on the ground with inscription on its face.

Colonel Kilbourne, ordained in the Episcopal church before leading his colony out of Massachusetts, organized St. John's parish. Kilbourne was the colonel of a frontier regiment of militia, a trustee of both Ohio and Miami universities, a member of congress and prominently identified with several manufacturing and business enterprises.

The colonel was co-founder of the Western Intelligencer, which was the parent newspaper of the present Ohio State Journal, Columbus.

Politics

(1) Battle of Tongues.

From his front porch, President Roosevelt asked assembled Democratic women last weekend: "Do you wish to employ for your bus line chauffeurs who wrecked the previous bus line by driving the old buses into the ditch. . . or are you going to continue . . . employing active, wide-awake chauffeurs who are . . . polite to passengers and see to it that they reach their destination in comfort and complete safety?"

Chubby-cheeked presidential would-be, Thomas Dewey, stumping the Midwest, repeated his opinions that FDR was a reckless road-hog, that the New Deal's farm program was "a masterpiece of bungling." Aspirant Senator Taft called Mr. Roosevelt's New Deal a "busybody," who was threatening constitutional rights.

(2) Battle of Ballots.

California Democrats were confronted with a scrambled ballot when they went to the primary polls Tuesday. There were four tickets: (1) a somewhat disheveled "harmony" slate pledged to FDR, (2) a delegation for John Nance Garner, (3) a vague left-wing group approving New Deal principles, (4) a "ham and eggs" delegation. The result, however, was clear. Roosevelt's slate for the 44 delegates won 3-to-1 over all the others combined.

In Texas, Native Son Garner was the almost unanimous choice of county conventions, but most delegates had agreed not to aid any "stop Roosevelt" move.

The few Republicans (32,000 of the 242,000 registered) in Maryland who voted in Monday's primary gave Thomas Dewey, unopposed, the state's 16 votes.

Science

Monkeys Quizzed.

A University of Wisconsin psychologist pitted the brains of two three-year-old tots against those of two adult monkeys in a contest where they detected patterns of sameness. The youngsters were rewarded for right answers with chocolate, the monkeys with bananas. His conclusion, he told the Middlewestern Psychological Association, was that the children grasped ideas much more quickly.

FARLEY PLEADS SANE STAND ON FOREIGN POLICY

"Don't Make Political Pawn Of American Safety," Big Jim Urges.

(By United Press)

CINCINNATI — Postmaster General James A. Farley, chairman of the Democratic national committee, expressed a wish last night that during the 1940 presidential campaign there would be no effort to "create political capital by giving a false impression of American foreign policy."

"The safety of the nation should not be made a political pawn," he said in an address prepared for delivery before the Democratic Duckworth club here.

With the rush of events in Europe giving point to his remarks, Farley said the Roosevelt administration had conducted foreign negotiations "in superb fashion while at the same time protecting the country's interests against the danger of rude shocks abroad."

"The record is one of which every American citizen, regardless of party, will well feel proud," he said.

"It is to be hoped that in the difficult months ahead, there will be no effort made to create political capital by giving a false impression of American foreign policy.

"The idea that some individual, utterly lacking in experience, has a patented formula for keeping the country out of war, is too absurd to be taken seriously."

"I think every sincere man who aspires to the presidency should be ready to concede that the other spokesman of his party and those of the opposition party, are just as anxious as he is to preserve the blessings of peace for America. The safety of the nation should not be made a political pawn."

He recalled that last spring one of the Republican presidential aspirants accused the administration of "ballyhooing the foreign situation."

"The gentleman was wrong on two counts," Farley remarked. "He apparently thought there would be no war in Europe and he overlooked the fact that the administration has a solemn duty to take into account the probable happenings on that troubled continent."

He warned that the next president will have more than the ordinary trials of office "in a world shaken by wars so widespread and terrible that no human being is wise enough to foresee the outcome."

"A front porch president who deceives himself into thinking that events will take care of themselves will hardly fit the bill," he added.

Of Republican charges that the administration has retarded recovery Farley said its record "in restoring business and raising national income is unsurpassed."

THINKS FIRE FAN TOO RABID

Chief Can't Even Get Into Booth To Use Telephone.

SPRINGFIELD, O.—(AP)—Assistant Fire Chief Edward Garrity has lost faith in "public spirit." It happened thus: Arriving at a fire, Garrity decided more equipment was needed. Dashing to the nearest pay phone, he found a man using it.

"Could I use that phone a minute to call out some more fire equipment?" pleaded Garrity.

"Get away from here!" the man growled. "I paid a nickel to use this phone and you can have it when I get through." The man then told his wife to get the children out of bed and come to the fire, Garrity insists.

OF HEAVEN'S BENEDICTION++

By Margaret Gorman Nichols

CHAPTER VII

His eyes narrowed. "I was going to ask you why, if your time was limited, you and Rod spent it at something like this."

"You came . . ."

He chuckled. "Yes. But I had a reason. Every one has a reason for being here except you and Rod. Barney knows it. That's why he's probably taking one of his little naps, which account for his apparently tirelessness when every one else is exhausted."

"Is every one here important?"

He smiled again. "Not very. Another cocktail?"

"Thank you, no. You didn't . . ."

"You're right. I mixed only two."

Coming for her glass, standing above her in the glaring light, he said, "I'd like to see you again, Brooke, but that's impossible, isn't it?"

She glanced up quickly, her eyes startled. "I'm afraid it is. You see, Rod and I are going to be married."

Without a word he turned and took the glasses to the small white table.

Brooke turned on a high black heel and went into the living-room. The scene had changed. Many had departed and no longer was Irene the center of a little group. Sitting between Rod and a strange young man, she was listening to the latter, her eyes lively. Rod looked pleased and interested. Their host was nowhere in sight.

Irene was saying, "How interesting, Jack! I had no idea. She simply dropped out of sight. In a sanitorium in Switzerand! I'm so glad she's . . ." Seeing Brooke, "Oh, hello, dear. There's room for you . . ."

Rod arose and smiled. Hadn't he missed her? To be sure, he wasn't angry that she had disappeared . . .

He said, "I'm afraid we must be going . . ."

If she's in love with him, Brooke thought, why is she being nice to me? There was no doubt of Irene's vital interest in Rod. Her restless bright eyes invariably shifted back to him. Her charm, her chic, her pose Brooke could not deny. Yet how often when they were younger had she heard Rod says of various Chatham girls, "She talks too much." While wanting to go so that she could be alone with him, wanting to go too because something instinctive unconsciously arose to protect what it loved, and yet somehow held fast by her curiosity and the fascination of a woman comparable to no other woman she had ever known, she thought of Julian Carlton again but did not see him in the room.

Irene held out a firm white hand on which gleamed an exquisite square-cut emerald. "Good-bye, dear. Do call us." To Rod she said simply, her lively eyes mocking, her husky, musical voice somewhat softer. "Good-bye."

When they were in the hall, Barney hurried to them.

"Going? I've been on the phone all this time." He grinned at Rod. "More work for you, boy." To Brooke, "We've been a long time meeting you and now that we have, we must see each other often."

"Thank you. I hope we shall."

After the smoke and warmth, she welcomed the cold.

In the taxi Rod said, smiling slightly, "Well?"

Brooke took a deep breath. "Barney probably wouldn't be at all flattered if he knew he reminded me of Humpty Dumpty."

Rod laughed. "On the contrary, he's love it!"

"He's devoted to you . . ."

"I know. They tell me I'm his first real protege. He's a grand person, a little crude at times. . ."

But it was not until they were dining somewhat less elegantly than they had two nights before that she asked, "Rod, who is Mrs. Davies?"

For a moment he didn't answer. Then, "She married for the first time when she was 15, had a baby when she was 16, and went to France during the war with her husband, an aviator, who cracked up over there. She was on the stage when she met Leslie Davies and married him. He's enormously rich. When they were divorced, he settled a million on her. About two years ago her first husband's mother died—Irene hadn't heard of her since the war—and left Irene's son the bulk of her fortune. She's one of the most generous people I've ever known."

Brooke thought: She's in love with you, Rod. You know it, don't you? And though she doesn't look it, she's years and years older than you. You know she's in love with you, don't you? Irene Davies isn't the sort to play a guessing game very long; she hasn't many good years left. Every expression was to make you conscious of her, Rod. I have only one weapon, my love for you. . . .

She lowered her lashes until they were flat against her face when Rod said, "She's a remarkable wohan." And not until she knew her eyes were untroubled did she look up and ask, "And Julian Carlton? He mixed me a cocktail in the kitchen. . . ."

Rod chuckled. "I know. He's . . . well, not only is he a brilliant lawyer, he's from a brilliant family. They've all carved niches for themselves somewhere—science or politics or education. He's pretty difficult to know. Spends most of his free time traveling or in Washington. . . ."

He lowered his head and she looked across the table at him, her fear naked in her eyes. Fear that her one weapon of love would not be enough. Regret that lovers cannot live alone in the world. Wonder of words spoken in dim places. Civilization made love a gigantic responsibility, robbed it of beauty and breathing space. . . .

The stage is set, she thought. The first act is over and though characters will be presented in the acts to come, I don't know yet who is the hero or heroine or villain, whether it is a comedy or a tragedy.

A call from Ellen, Mrs. Kingsbury's maid, on Sunday evening before Brooke went to dinner with Rod, told her that Mrs. Kingsbury had arrived and expected her the following morning at an address in the East Sixties.

And so on Monday at 9 o'clock, knowing that although Mrs. Kingsbury did not stir until 10 Ellen would be up, Brooke pressed the bell of an apartment on the ground floor of a large apartment building.

Ellen, gray, middle-aged, timid but capable, wearing a blue-gray uniform, admitted her cordially into a living-room much longer than it was wide. It was furnished in a nondescript manner but was comfortable. The windows were open (Brooke remembered Mrs. Kingsbury passion for fresh air, one fortunately that she shared) and the bright chintz draperies were blowing. Off the living-room she saw a small dining-room with a mahogany table which could not adequately seat more than four, and four thin-legged mahogany chairs.

Ellen led the way to a bedroom. "This is your room. I hope you are going to like it with us. Is there anything I can get for you? Mrs. Kingsbury isn't awake yet."

Brooke smiled. "No, there's nothing, thank you. But will you tell Mrs. Kingsbury that I am here when she awakens? I think I am going to be very comfortable." The motherliness of the spinster Ellen cheered her.

When Ellen left the high-ceiling-ed square room, Brooke pulled off her brown hat, slipped out of the brown coat, tightened the belt of her slim jersey frock, and set about unpacking. Her hands lingered on a large photograph of Rod which she placed on the maple table beside the narrow maple bed. Together for the whole of yesterday, they had been as if they were lovers alone in the world, and in his last kiss he had given himself.

THEATERS

Mae Introduces Song.

Since her very first picture Mae West has followed a custom of introducing at least one new song in each of her films. And her present picture, which is showing at the Madison theater, "My Little Chickadee," is no exception. In this production she sings "Willie of the Valley," written especially for her. The song tells the story of Willie, a gold miner who is pursued by many a maid because of his fortune and his gold teeth. W. C. Fields, Dick Foran and Joseph Calleia are in the supporting cast.

Ginger In Unusual Role.

The problem of whether a young girl's social outlook on life can be influenced by an unsavory environment is confronted in the heart-gripping theme of "Primrose Path," starring Ginger Rogers and Joel McCrea. From a sorry family dwelling in the branded section of town, Miss Rogers playing a friendless little hoyden, is disillusioned with life until she suddenly falls in love with a young tradesman. It is around her efforts to be a good wife and break the ties which bind her to her family that the engrossing human drama deals.

Winter at Dartmouth.

Beginning Sunday at the Majestic theater will be shown "Winter Carnival" with an all star cast. This is an unique picture in that neither winter atmosphere nor winter sports control or demand even the slightest deviation from a smoothly moving story plot to accomodate scenes of the 1939 Dartmouth carnival. Ann Sheridan, Richard Carlson, Marsha Hunt and Robert Allen have the leading roles. The co-feature is "Enemy Agent," starring Richard Cromwell, Helen Vinson, Robert Armstrong and Marjorie Reynolds.

Vaudeville Artists.

The Weaver Bros. and Elviry, of vaudeville fame, are appearing in the film "In Old Missouri" which opens Sunday at the Park theater. This is a story dealing with the adventures of a family of Missouri share-croppers who journey to the city to acquaint the owner of the land they worked on with the unfair practices to which the share-croppers are subjected. Jack Holt plays the lead in the co-feature "Outside the 3-Mile Limit."

Olden Times and Modern.

"Swanee River," starring Don Ameche, Andrea Leeds and Al Jolson, opens at the Ritz theater beginning Sunday. It tells of one of the most colorful and romantic periods in American history, the days of minstrels and river boats, and the songs of Stephen C. Foster. The co-feature is "Dust Be My Destiny" with Priscilla Lane and John Garfield as the leading characters. This story was adapted from the novel by Jerome Odlum, author of "Each Dawn I Die."

CRASHES GATE

Philadelphia Orchestra Leader Gets by Door Tender.

PHILADELPHIA — (INS) — Eugene Ormandy, conductor of the Philadelphia Orchestra, now knows how it feels to crash one of his own concerts. For that is just what the leader of the famed symphonic aggregation had to do in Greensboro, N. C., during a 5,000-mile tour. The house was sold out and an overflow crowd milled around the auditorium.

With Harl McDonald, Ormandy tried to reach the stage entrance but found the way blocked. They tried the front entrances.

"I'm Eugene Ormandy, the conductor," said the maestro.

The doorman laughed. Others had tried the same stunt.

Then Ormandy got mad clear back to his Hungarian ancestors and threatened to call the concert off. Finally, someone recognized him and that saved the day.

Nazis Drop Troops In Holland By Parachute

Sweeping German Attack Beaten Off by Allies; Brussels and Amsterdam Bombed; British Planes Busy.

Towns around The Hague reported that German planes were flying low and some of them dropping troops in what appeared to be an effort to encircle the capital, from which Queen Wilhelmina today issued an appeal to King Victor Emmanuel of Italy to aid in obtaining the respect of belligerents for the rights of civilians in war time.

Other reports from scattered towns in Holland said that planes had dropped troops at Wassenaar (near The Hague), at Waalhaven airdrome and at Tilburg, in southwestern Holland.

The seriousness of the situation at The Hague was indicated by reports that a Dutch troop unit near the capital was fired on by a group of persons wearing Dutch uniforms and aided by others in civilian dress. They were deescribed as German forces landed by parachute.

Another message said that German troops were landing by parachute in the suburbs of Rotterdam, where about a dozen soldiers dropped near a factory at the end of the Barendrecht bridge.

60 Planes Sighted.

Sixty Messerschmidt fighting planes were sighted over North Brabant, on the Belgian frontier, flying toward Belgium.

The Amsterdam radio ordered all citizens of The Hague to turn over all ammunition and firearms to police headquarters before May 15 on threat of severe penalty.

On the land front, the Dutch reported recapture of all airdromes seized by German air transport troops (including Rotterdam) and said they were holding an irregular line about 15 to 20 miles inside their own frontier, based on connection with the main Belgian line along the Albert canal.

The Belgians were reported to have stood their ground at prepared defenses behind their border, but vast numbers of German airplanes were roaring over Belgian territory in an effort to seize key points and to break up—with bombs and machine guns—the Allied mechanized columns rushing toward the front.

Belgians Fighting.

A Belgian war communique said that the Germans had attacked along the Albert canal (main Belgian defense line) and the Ardennes and Meuse river sectors.

(A German high command communique said that the German forces again took the offensive today and had smashed through the frontier troops in Holland and Belgium.)

(London heard that the Germans had advanced to near Liege in Belgium.)

German bombs fell on Amsterdam and again thundered around other big cities of the embattled low countries, but the greatest danger appeared to be from parachute troops landed by the Nazi planes to attempt seizure of strategic points.

A continual stream of radio warnings went out from the Dutch high command to keep troops and the people informed of landings by German parachute troops. There was little indication of the number of parachutists dropped at strategic points.

Parachute troops also were reported to have landed 12 miles east of Schoonhoven, near Jaarsveld, which is behind the Dutch waterline. This indicated that the Germans were attempting to frustrate further flooding of Dutch areas.

British Royal Air Force planes blasted the German-held Dutch airport outside Rotterdam and attacked German parachutists landed near The Hague, the Netherlands capital.

Holland alone claimed to have shot down more than 100 German planes yesterday and said that 14 more were captured undamaged at one recaptured airdrome.

(Berlin reported that German troops were expected to attack the first main Belgo-Dutch defense line today along a front extending from the Zuyder Zee down the Yssel and Maas rivers and on to the juncture of the Belgium-Luxembourg-France frontier.

Nazis Reach Defenses of Famed City of Liege

(By International News Service)

LONDON—German troops have reached the outer defenses of Liege, historic battleground of the last war 20 miles within the Belgian frontier, it was reported in British military circles today.

Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler's blitzkrieg, however, apparently is "not developing the strength anticipated," it was said, and the general outlook appears satisfactory.

(Editor's note: The German high command announced that the same type "Stukas"—dive bombers armed with 1,000 pound bombs—which bombed and sank a British battleship off Namsos in the Norway fighting succeeded in battering down one of the strongest forts around Liege. The fort fell into German hands a few minutes after the aerial attack, it was claimed.)

The situation at Ardennes is obscure, but Arlon is in Allied hands and it has been definitely ascertained that the Germans have not debouched southward from the Luxembourg frontier.

North of the Rhine, this military information said, the Germans were repulsed at Almelo and Hengelo.

In the far north the Germans were reported to be at Groningen while in the south they were driven toward Roermund and Maastricht, where they crossed the Maas river.

The Allied advance, it was said, is proceeding according to plan.

War Bulletins

THE HAGUE—(INS)—Military instructions found on captured German parachutists revealed that Germany hoped to occupy all of Holland within 24 hours, the high command announced today. The Germans vastly underestimated the resistance Nazi troops would have to face, it was said. In addition, the communique described the Germans as low in morale and poorly equipped.

PARIS—(AP)—A Havas (French news agency) dispatch from Brussels today said an estimated 30 persons were killed when a German bomber crashed after being hit by a shell fired from a British channel steamer at anchor in the canal of Villebrug.

BUCHAREST, Rumania—(INS)—The Rumanian government headed by Premier Georgi Tatarescu resigned today. King Carol immediately asked Tatarescu to form a new government.

LONDON—(AP)—Reports that German planes had bombed the Belgian towns of Alost, Renaix, Louvain and Verviers were relayed from Brussels today by Reuters, British news agency.

WASHINGTON—(INS)—Belgian reserve soldiers and officers in neutral countries all over the world, including several thousand in the United States were ordered to the colors today. In a cable to the embassy in Washington Paul Spaak, Belgian foreign minister, instructed the commercial attache to notify reservists in this country and advance them transportation expenses to their homeland.

LONDON—(AP)—The air ministry announced today that 30 German airplanes had been destroyed yesterday and last night "on the new front" in the low countries. Twenty British planes were missing, the ministry said.

ally all the German troops landed by plane and parachute yesterday in an attempt to seize the nation's airports; only one field remained in German possession. The German frontal attack was reported halted after surging 13 miles over the border.

Belgium—Belgian and German troops are in contact near the Belgian - northern Luxembourg frontier, where "light" Nazi advance units have been halted at the first line of Belgium's defenses.

The struggle for air supremacy over Belgium was disclosed in a terse British communique which reported that Allied planes had fiercely resisted attempts by the German air force to strafe reinforcements moving into Belgium.

The disclosure came as official sources announced that Nazi bombing planes had killed or wounded 100 French civilians in a series of widespread air raids yesterday accompanying the assault on the low countries. Forty-four of the raiders were reported shot down.

Paris experienced its second air alarm in two days shortly before dawn this morning but there were no reports of new bombings.

In retaliation for the Nazi air raids yesterday, the French said, their bombers successfully attacked "several enemy airdromes" during the night and also made extensive reconnaissance flights over Germany. All planes were said to have returned safely.

British general headquarters said that the German air force had made eight attacks on Allied columns moving into Belgium in the last 24 hours, only to be met by "vigorous" resitance.

Hundred Civilians Killed In Air Raids.

PARIS—(AP)—More than 100 persons, including women and children, were killed or wounded by German aerial bombardments in France yesterday, the French high command announced this morning.

The communique said:

"During the night our movements were continued in Belgium.

"In southern Luxembourg, despite violent attacks, the enemy was unable to effect any new advance.

"Nothing to report from Lorraine and Alsace.

"Bombing by German aviation in French territory yesterday caused many victims among the civil population.

"The high command regrets to announce that more than a hundred were killed and wounded including, more particularly, women and children.

"French bombers attacked during the night several enemy airdromes.

"Numerous aerial reconnaissances were made over German territory.

"All our planes returned to their bases."

The dikes in Holland have been opened to help check the German advance. This view of the dikes was taken near The Hague.

Problem of Clearing Culvert Solved By Tabby.

KEMMERER, Wyom.—(AP)—The job of clearing debris from a jammed culvert stumped a highway crew attempting to get a drag chain through.

Then one of the workmen submitted this plan to Foreman William Reynolds:

It worked.

HUMANE SOCIETY ORGANIZES FOR YEAR, HEARS FINANCIAL REPORTS

The Mansfield Humane society re-elected officers and chose 12 directors at its annual meeting Friday afternoon.

Philip Wolfe was retained as president. Other officers chosen again included John H Finefrock, first vice president; P M Wooden, second vice president, Mrs. Elmer Post, secretary, James M. Cook, treasurer. Mrs. Marie Menchan was re-named humane officer.

Trustees of the $85,000 Scattergood fund reported that $7,669 was paid to all beneficiaries from October, 1936, to Dec. 31, 1939. All of the payments were made from income from the investment of the fund left by Miss Anna Scattergood.

None of the principal has been used, the trustees said. The fund provides for the care of the incurably sick and indigent aged.

Trustees in charge of administration of the fund are John H Finefrock, Atty. W. H. Gifford, and D. O. Meese.

The executive committee in charge of the Scattergood fund is headed by P. M. Wooden. Others on the committee are Philip Wolfe, John H Finefrock, Mrs. Elmer Post, Mrs. A. L. Price, Mrs Charles G. Brown, and Robert Remy.

The society passed a resolution in tribute to the memory of Mrs. Jessie B. Black, a member, who died several weeks ago.

Elected trustees of the society for three-year terms were Mrs. A L. Price, Mrs Charles B. Brown, Mrs. E R Hartman, Miss Bertha Reuss, Scott Coffin, D. O. Meese, Mrs. J. M. Johnston, Harry V. Henness, Mrs A Middleton, and Mrs. Harry V. Downs.

Trustees for two years are Fred L Tracy and Rev Peter Young, pastor of the First Congregational church.

French Children Lose Vacations Because of War

PARIS—(INS)—Because schools must work harder to replace the home influence on children in time of war, French school children will lose most of their summer vacations "for the duration," the Journal Official announced recently.

Fathers mobilized in the armies, and mothers doing war work, Minister of Education Sarraut pointed out, leave much to be desired in the usual home atmosphere and influence on the younger generations during wartime.

In addition, because children can be used for certain war work such as harvests, the vacation period, of ten weeks only, will be staggered through different parts of the country so that some of the younger generations are always available.

ITALY TOLD OF ALLIED FAILURE

Posters Claim British, French Show Disintegration Signs.

ROME—(INS)—The Italian capital was flooded today with thousands of printed posters entitled "The Failure of England."

The posters said the "British and French show signs of disintegration" and claimed that this was "undeniable proof" of their defeat.

The newspaper Resto Del Carlino of Bologna commented:

"As the real war begins we already know the sequel. May God bless the arms and peoples fighting for bread and justice."

NEW CABINET BEING FORMED BY CHURCHILL

Britons Watch Sky for German Bombing Planes; Troops Aiding Belgians.

Walhaven, the Rotterdam airport, including 50 troop transports, it was asserted.

Britain was now on a complete war footing for the first time in the war, with army, navy, air force and police leaves cancelled, air raid precaution and home defense corps, including anti-parachutist specialists, fully mobilized and ambulance and fire brigades standing by for an air raid warning. The first complete air raid blackout of the war had been observed during the night.

Churchill, successor to Neville Chamberlain as prime minister, was expected to present his cabinet list to King George today.

It was forecast that Chamberlain would be included in the new inner war cabinet, as minister without portfolio, lord president of the council or possibly chancellor of the exchequer, his old post.

It had been forecast that Churchill would give key posts to David Lloyd George, his World war chief; Maj. Clement Attlee and Herbert Morrison, labor party leaders, and Sir Archibald Sinclair, liberal party leader.

The air ministry, in an early morning communique announced the raids of the Royal Air force on German bases in Holland It said:

"German troop-flying aircraft on the airdrome at Rotterdam and on the beach near The Hague were attacked and destroyed Friday afternoon by Royal Air force aircraft of the bomber command. . .

"The attacks were concentrated on large numbers of enemy aircraft, including 50 troop carriers which were dispersed along the sides of the airdrome, and numerous direct hits were noted until the pall of smoke over the airdrome from successive bombing attacks became so dense as to make close observation impossible.

"Four enemy aircraft were destroyed in one dive bombing attack alone. Numerous fires were started and heavy casualties were inflicted on enemy personnel."

SET $6,000 WAR RELIEF QUOTA

Richland Asked to Raise That Amount In Red Cross Drive For $10,000,000.

chairman, who returned this week from the national convention of Red Cross in Washington said today that the $6,000 is a minimum of what the city and county will be asked to give, and he hopes to exceed that figure.

An important phase of the drive is that all local chapters will retain 15 per cent of the funds raised to purchase materials for war relief clothing.

Sewing rooms will be set up at once over the county and women will be asked to rally to the war cause as they did 23 years ago. They will be asked to make their social activities secondary to war relief work, because of the urgent need.

Norman H. Davis, national chairman of American Red Cross, issued the following appeal to the Richland county chapter last night:

"With the invasion of Holland, Belgium and Luxembourg the war has entered a phase which will inevitably and at once bring wide spread suffering to millions of helpless men, women and children," he telegraphed.

"In order to inaugurate widespread relief measures the American Red Cross is at once launching a campaign for a minimum War Relief Fund of ten million dollars. Your chapter quota is $6,000," he said. "Please mobilize at once the entire leadership of your chapter and community in order that your quota may be raised and exceeded without delay."

First plans of organization, Finefrock said, will include choosing community leaders to head the drive.

tactics, are able to conquer fortified key points.

A German eye-witness in the Eupen and Malmedy sectors, for example, described the rapid seizure of this pre-war region despite the presence of pill-boxes and strong Belgian resistance.

"Our troops on Friday covered between 50 and 60 kilometres," a spokesman said.

Authentic quarters meanwhile defined an "open town" as any inhabited city where major troop concentrations, artillery or anti-aircraft emplacements are not in evidence.

Friburg, which the Germans charge was attacked by the British air force, "can under no circumstances be classified as a military objective."

So far as Brussels was concerned, Berlin sources stated that the Schaerbeek railway terminal which is situated in a densely-populated area, was bombed but that proper German reconnaissance definitely established that heavy war material including artillery was being moved from the station toward the front.

Schaerbeek is the most important railway junction in Belgium and consequently an important military objective, it was said.

If non-combatants are killed in such bombings or if houses are damaged, this will be accidental, it was said.

The Belgians, a spokesman said, should have forbidden the use of the junction for military transport. It was reiterated that Brussels is an open town and will not be bombed.

The same quarters indicated that the Wilhelmstasse will reply to Washington's request that civilian lives be safeguarded as soon as is practical. Spokesmen referred inquirers to Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler's strict orders to the air force prohibiting bombing of open towns if the Allies do likewise.

The Belgian and Dutch ministers remained at their legations today, awaiting their passports. They will be granted as soon as safe conduct for the German diplomatic delegations at Brussels and The Hague is forthcoming.

JUDGE CALLS HAT WAR OFF

World Has Enough Trouble Without This Dispute.

BOSTON, Mass.—(AP)—William Brown, charged with assault and battery by Ethel Brooks, explained to Judge Elijah Adlow in municipal court that the argument started because he gave an "honest criticism" of her new hat.

Then, he continued, she criticized his necktie and grabbed it. This, Brown said, he did not find comfortable so he grabbed the lady.

"Not guilty," said Judge Adlow. "There's enough trouble on the other side of the ocean without starting a war here over a woman's hat."

'WOO' PATROL

Swiss Authorities Worried About Shieks Who Patrol Border.

BASEL, Switzerland—(AP)—Handsome Moroccan "sons of the desert" have so many charms for the Swiss maidens of Solothurn canton that the cantonal police have come between them.

The Moroccan troops patrol the French frontier near the little Swiss town of Rodersdorf. Cantonal authorities noted with alarm that there was considerable flirting going on between Moroccans and Swiss girls. Now cantonal police patrol the border highway to discourage such goings-on.

HOROSCOPE

For Sunday, May 12.

Sunday's horoscope is a pleasant, lively and progressive one, with matters coming to the fore which may hold elements of surprise or adventure of an unforeseen nature. It may be a joyous, unexpected trip, some token of esteem from superiors or employers, or a romantic adventure arising from a thrilling source. Or a novel experience may materialize in the realm of thought or spiritual aspirations.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a progressive and prosperous year, with advancement or success coming with unforeseen precipitancy. Travel or contacts with strange places or persons may be lucrative as well as thrilling, although personal initiative may attract benefits from employers or other sources.

A child born on this day may be original, ingenious, skilful and capable in any number of out-of-the-ordinary ways, attaining place and attention from superiors, employers or perhaps strangers as well. It may benefit by travel and enjoy personal as well as professional adventures or honors.

For Monday, May 13.

Monday's astrological forecast is a conflicting one. There are signs of definite success in relation to corporations, political or diplomatic bodies, fraternal societies or through intrigue or undercover activities. There also are omens of impediments, delays, stubborn opposition and difficult financial angles. There may be entanglements or loss because of papers or writings, so be alert.

Those whose birthday it is face a year of conflict and doubt, although there is room for gain and achievement by particularly discreet, wary, subtle or secret co-operation with powerful bodies, political or fraternal. Finances are at stake, and papers menace if not carefully handled and signed. Social or affectional pleasures bring consolations.

A child born on this day may have marked ability in statesmanship, politics or strategem, with much insight and understanding of a shrewd and subtle quality. Loss or misconstruction of writings or documents seem to figure in its career. It may have a forceful and domineering character, making for success against obstacles and opposition.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

"There is no reason at all except that she has not yet been notified you are here," I said. "She knows that you were expected at about this hour, so I am sure she is all ready to come down. I will go up and bring her at once."

"If you will be so kind," he said.

I took my time about going to the suite of Olina and her mother, Queen Olga. I found my footsteps lagging perceptibly as I approached their door, for I felt myself curiously averse to bring Olina into this rehearsal, which might be the scene of public humiliation for Mary.

I was childishly glad, therefore, when I saw Katharine coming out of the door of my own room.

Katherine's brows were knitted in the nearest approach to a frown she ever wears, as she closed the door softly behind her. But either spontaneously, or in response to some lightning message from her brain, the frown instantly vanished as she saw me.

"Whither away?" she queried under her breath as she came up to me. Then as I involuntarily nodded toward the "royal suite," she smiled impishly.

"Oh! I see," she murmured. "You're a lady-in-waiting come to conduct the Princess Olina in state to the rehearsal. I hope she chokes or her harp fingers get arthritis on the way."

"You know you don't wish any such thing," I told her, laughing at the contrast between her vicious words and her mild tones.

"I do so," she insisted childishly, "but she isn't important. Tell me about Mary instead. Is she down there yet? Is she jittery?"

"Yes, to the first question; no, to the second," I told her. "And she isn't alone in the den of lions. Lillian is with her, and very much on the job."

"The Authority on Authorities"

TRAPPING BIG TRUMPS

WHEN YOU can't lead a trump through the defender's honors toward your own, for the simple reason that you haven't enough trumps in the dummy, maybe you can lead something else through them. If you are blank in the suit led, and thus able to over-ruff if the opponent sticks in a trump, you get the same result. And then, when he discards, isn't it fun to toss off high cards of some other suit while you leave the lead in the dummy?

(Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
1♠	Pass	2♥	Pass
3♣	Pass	3♥	Pass
3♠	Pass	4♠

West led the spade 6, the 8 falling to the 9. Next the heart 10 was sent through to the K. East took his diamond A, then led the 4 to the K, whereupon Albert E. Heussler, the canny declarer, went to work. He ruffed his diamond J with dummy's spade Q, led the spade 5 to his A and when West discarded a club he was sorry he had not finessed. He now had a job to do, and he did it. And how!

He sent a club to dummy's J, led the heart A and discarded the club A on it. Next came the heart Q for a discard of the club K and then the heart J, which East ruffed with the 10 and the declarer over-ruffed with the J. The club Q won the next trick, then the spade 2 was led to East's K, leaving the spade 7 to take the last trick.

It's not often that a player gets a chance to discard an ace and a king in making his contract, and anybody would enjoy having a chance to do it.

CHURCH HOLDS RECEPTION AT CELEBRATION

Fiftieth Anniversary Observed By Bucyrus Congregation Over Week-End.

BUCYRUS — First Methodist church received the public in a reception Friday night as a part of the 50th anniversary and rededication program which will be offered Sunday.

The public was given the opportunity to inspect the church Friday night although no special program had been arranged.

Morning worship and rededication services will be held Sunday at 10:30 with the Rev. H. W. Peterson, D. D., district superintendent, occupying the pulpit. A commemoration tea will be held at 3 o'clock when a huge cake with 50 candles will memorialize former members. A festival of music Sunday evening will complete the day's program.

The church has been closed for the last two months while extensive redecoration has been in progress, including painting of walls and refinishing of woodwork and new carpeting. New light fixtures and new rest rooms are also a part of the modernization.

for each other and in the service of the christian faith.

"Is this solution—our solution—is it permanent or safe," he added, "if it is solved for us alone. That it seems to me is the most immediate issue that the Americans face. Can we continue our peaceful construction if all the other continents embrace by preference or by compulsion a wholly different principle of life? No, I think not."

Shocked and angered, as he said we all were, by the invasion of the low countries and Luxembourg, Mr. Roosevelt stated his opposition to the totalitarian ideology in vigorous and alarming language but within the limits of the methods short of war by which he long has opposed it. He warned of a "definite challenge" to the American type of civilization. He decried any mistaken sense of physical, economic and social safety from attacks on civilization elsewhere.

Three more independent nations have been "cruelly invaded by force of arms," he told the scientists and cited the appalling frequency in which threat has been followed by attack.

SERVICES SET

Shelby Churches Observe Mother's Day Tomorrow.

SHELBY—Mother's Day services are planned for a number of Shelby churches Sunday. Special music by the choirs and appropriate sermons by the pastors will be features of the services.

At First Methodist church Rev. Arthur Staples will give the sermon on "Honoring Our Mothers." Music will be sung by the 25-voice choir directed by Howard Wildman.

A Mother's tea for the women of the church will be held at 4 p. m. as part of the observance at First Church of Christ. Special music will be a feature of the regular services at this church.

The newly organized male choir of 16 voices directed by Rev. J. C. Searle, will make its first appearance Sunday when it sings the music for the Mother's Day service at United Brethren church.

The choir at First Lutheran church directed by W. R. Conger will sing special selections for First Lutheran church service. A male quartet composed of Harry Hatch, George Alexander, Hal Culberworth and George Frank will sing for the women's department meeting of the Sunday school.

Other services are planned for St. Mark's Episcopal church where Rev. Robert A. George will be in charge and at Presbyterian church. Rev. A. B. Allison will preach the special Mother's Day sermon at the latter church.

MURDER TRIAL

Three-Judge Court to Decide Fate of Middletown Boy.

LANCASTER —(AP)— A three-judge court was expected to take under deliberation today the fate of William S Hart of Middletown, 18-year-old boys' industrial school inmate charged with first degree murder in the slaying of Axel Stromstead, institution tailor, during an escape attempt last May 31.

The defense closed its case yesterday after presenting only six witnesses, all present or former inmates of the school.

The state attempted to show in its testimony that Hart obtained a bar used to beat Stromstead to death. State witnesses said they saw Hart give the bar to Robert E. Lee of Norwood, Mass., who will be tried for the Stromstead slaying May 23.

George Rimki, 19-year-old Cleveland youth appearing as a defense witness, testified that he and Hart were among five inmates taken to a correctional cottage and "spanked 50 times" two days after the escape attempt.

Hart's attorney, Kermit Sitterly, said Hart confessed participation in the escape plot soon afterward.

The court denied a motion for a directed acquittal verdict.

PROGRAM SET FOR MEMORIAL DAY EXERCISES

Major W. M. Vance Speaker at Cemetery Service; Sunday Church Program Planned.

Tentative plans have been set up for Mansfield's observance of Memorial Day on May 30, as well as for the Memorial Sunday services on the preceding Sunday. Speakers for both events have been obtained.

Robert W. Jones, named program chairman for the Decoration Day observance, announced that Major W. M. Vance of Columbus, would be the orator of the day at the annual services at the Mansfield cemetery stadium.

Vance, who is a great grandson of one of the state's early governors, is at present attorney for the Aid for the Aged division of the state welfare department.

The Memorial Sunday services will be held May 26 at the Madison theater, and will be in charge of the combined Jewish congregations of the city. The speaker will be Rabbi Charles Latz of Canton. Music will be provided by the Jewish choirs. Arrangements for the day are in charge of a committee headed by S. V. Fox, Dr. L. H. Bachrach and M. R. Goodman, all ex-service men. The services are scheduled for 9:45 a. m. and are open to the public. Veterans have been asked to attend in uniform.

Arranging Parade.

Plans for the annual Memorial Day parade have not yet been set up, but it will march at 1 p. m. from the Legion home to the cemetery, Jones said.

A final meeting of the Mansfield Memorial Association, which is made up of all veterans organizations and all patriotic societies of the city, will be held at Memorial building at 7:30 p. m. May 20 to complete plans for the observance, J. G. Wallace, president of the association, said today.

SOUVENIRS

Members of Galion Club Given Trinkets by Hostess.

GALION — When Mrs. E. B. Beall entertained the members and several guests of the Friday Afternoon club she presented them with favors and trinkets she had collected on her trip to Mexico. At one o'clock she was hostess for a luncheon at Bemiller's, and then the group met at her home for bridge games. The club prize was won by Mrs. R. C. Arter; the guest prizes went to Mrs. C. S. Kirk; and the floating prize was awarded to Mrs. J. F. Bemiller.

Arne Oxaal, native of Norway, told about his country when he appeared as guest speaker Friday evening for a meeting of the Builders' class at the United Brethren church. The class was entertained by the teacher, C. F. King. Mrs. Grover Cole and Lloyd Turner.

Daphne Evans entertained the Torchbearers of First Lutheran church in the church basement Friday afternoon. This group is sponsored by Mrs. Lowell Ness and Mrs. Fred Wilson.

BELGIANS BEAT OFF INVADERS

Hold Back Germans With Aid Of Allied Troops, Rushed To Fighting Front.

the German thrust bogged down in a maze of traps, obstructions and mined roads and bridges long prepared to halt just such a blitzkrieg as Adolf Hitler sent upon Belgium before yesterday's dawn.

The army, under the direct command of 38-year-old King Leopold III, backed up Denis' pronouncement. In all the border area, it said, the German invaders were halted.

Behind the lines, Belgian defenders mopped up German parachute troops and at the same time police were alert against any "fifth column" movement that might aid invaders dropped from the skies.

All Germans in the country were arrested. Leon Degrelle, leader of Belgium's Rexist (fascist) party and Staf Declerq, Flemish extremist, were taken into custody.

Crowds of Belgians, roused by the fighting words of their king that "the Belgian cause is pure," jeered angrily as police vans carried Germans to jail.

British and French fighting men, brothers-in-arms of the Belgians in the last war streamed through the country on their way to the fighting front. The cheering populace greeted the Tommies and Poilus, pelting them with flowers.

The entire country was on the alert for further air raids.

GALION PLANS NEW BUILDING

Several Changes In Business District Announced; Firms In New Locations.

GALION — Several real estate transactions and improvements in the downtown district were announced Friday. These are a few of the many changes in the business district.

E. P. Monroe has awarded a contract to Weithman Brothers of Galion for the construction of a two-story brick building at the corner of Harding Way West and North Union street, which will house two business rooms on the first floor and four deluxe apartments above. Charles W. Conklin of Mansfield is the architect and engineer.

Sale of the Rettig block was completed Friday by the First National bank to Carl Weithman. The first floor has been leased to the Galion Square Market which will move from the present location.

Another old established firm, the E. F. Klopp and Company will move from its present location to the Arkay, Inc., shop on Harding Way East, east of the present Klopp store.

Both present locations of the Klopp store and the Square Market were sold recently by their owners, Forrest and Kenneth Casey who owned the Klopp block, and Clarence Myers who owned the grocery building, to Ernest Pollock of Shaker Heights.

It is understood that Pollock will have both these buildings torn down and replaced with a modern construction. Other plans have not been announced here.

GALION COUPLE WED TODAY IN IMPRESSIVE CATHOLIC SERVICE

GALION — Wearing an attractive bridal gown of white double net, Bernadette K. Flannery exchanged vows with Franklin E. Resh in a quiet, but impressive ceremony at the parsonage of St. Joseph's Catholic church at 8:30 o'clock this morning. The single ring ceremony was read by Rev. Father Louis Huffman of the parish.

The bride's gown was fashioned with square neckline trimmed in lace, short puffed sleeves lace trimmed, and insertions of lace at the waistline and in the floor length full skirt. A large net rosette worn tilted on the head was tied at the back with a net bow. Her arm bouquet was of calla lillies.

Mary Margaret Flannery, cousin of the bride, was the only attendant. Her gown was of yellow taffeta and net, floor length, sweetheart neckline. Tiny multi-colored velvet flowers trimmed the top of the bodice. A yellow net rosette worn on her head was fashioned like that of the bride's, and her bouquet was of Talisman rosebuds.

Edwin Guinup of Galion, a close friend of the couple, was the best man.

Present for the ceremony were the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Flannery of Harding Way East; Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Callender, William Gledhill and Mrs. Guinup, all of Galion.

Following the ceremony, the bridal party was served a wedding breakfast at the Mansfield-Leland hotel, Mansfield. Later the newlyweds left for a short wedding trip. For traveling, the bride wore a grey crepe dress and sheer wool redingote coat, with grey and red accessories. They will be at home next week in their newly furnished cottage at Lake Galion.

Since her graduation from Galion high school, the bride has operated her own beauty shop here.

Mr. Resh is the son of Mrs. Daniel Resh of South Union street. He was graduated from Galion high school, and is a machine operator at the Galion Metallic Vault company.

Lloyd Joyce Hurls Braves to 5-2 Victory Over Lima

Giants Topple Rivals

Hand Brooklyn 7-2 Setback In Homecoming Game; Pirates Win.

IF YOU think the looks the Republicans are giving the Democrats are black,' you ought to hear what the burghers of the borough of Brooklyn are planning to do to Bill Terry after what happened yesterday.

The reason is that the New York Giants blasted a Brooklyn homecoming that was the biggest thing to hit town since Babe Phelps came in the first time. The Terrys won the game 7-2 behind the five hit hurling of Harry Gumbert.

* * *

That was the first time in four tries that the Giants had downed the delirious Dodgers and it left the Brooks only a half game ahead of the idle Cincinnati Reds in the National league pennant chase.

There were dark doings in another borough too. For the proud Yankees lost their seventh straight game, this one to the Boston Red Sox 3-2 in a 10-inning affair. Three bad errors, mixed with six solid hits, turned the trick and gave the Yanks the longest losing streak they've ever suffered under Manager Joe McCarthy.

The Pittsburgh Pirates finally regained the combination and made off with their first victory in 10 tries, an 8-3 win over the Chicago Cubs

Big Louie (Buck) Newsom of the Detroit Tigers scattered seven hits to give the Tigers their first shutout of the season, by 3-0, over the Chicago White Sox.

The Philadelphia Athletics turned the business of beating the Washington Senators over to Bob Johnson, their hard-hitting outfielder, and he obliged with his fifth homer of the season, a double and two singles, all of which accounted for five of the A's runs in their 8-7 win.

The Cleveland Indians won their third in a row the hard way—by spotting St. Louis four runs and then beating them 9-4 The victory kept the Tribe a game and a half back of the Boston Red Sox, American league pace setters.

Reds Play Old Rivals Today

Junior Thompson Scheduled to Hurl for Cincy.

ST. LOUIS —(AP)— The Reds encountered their old rivals the Cardinals, today with an unusually warm spot in their hearts for a gentleman down east.

The object of their affection was Big Harry Gumbert of the Giants, who set the top position Dodgers down with a 7-2 defeat and again threw the league lead up for grabs.

Gumbert's fete put the Reds only a half game behind Brooklyn.

Junior Thompson was called for the Reds to oppose Morton Cooper or Curt Davis.

With the team idle yesterday, the Reds' management pared Wally Berger from the roster, giving him an unconditional release in the face of Rookie Mike McCormick's capable cavorting in left field.

In announcing Berger's freedom, Manager Warren C. Giles said. "We hated to see him go but we had too many leftfielders."

The move was necessary, he asserted, to get within the player limit of 25 before May 15. Giles said he believed Berger would be able to make connections because. "he is a good player."

* * *

Big, affable Wally was one of the best liked men on the club. He had been with the Reds since 1938 when obtained in a trade with the Giants for Second Baseman Alex Kampouris, now with Newark of the International league. Berger is 34 years old.

He was recognized as one of the leading batters in the National league with a 10-year average of .300.

BERGER RELEASED.

CINCINNATI —(INS)— Outfielder Wally Berger has been given his unconditional release, Cincinnati Redleg General Manager Warren C. Giles announced today.

HOLD RECORD

CANNEAUT —(INS)—Ed Gray of Geneva college today held the unofficial Lake Shore league discus record of 136 feet 3 inches scored last night in a dual meet against Conneaut. Geneva won 62-56.

BUCYRUS WINS

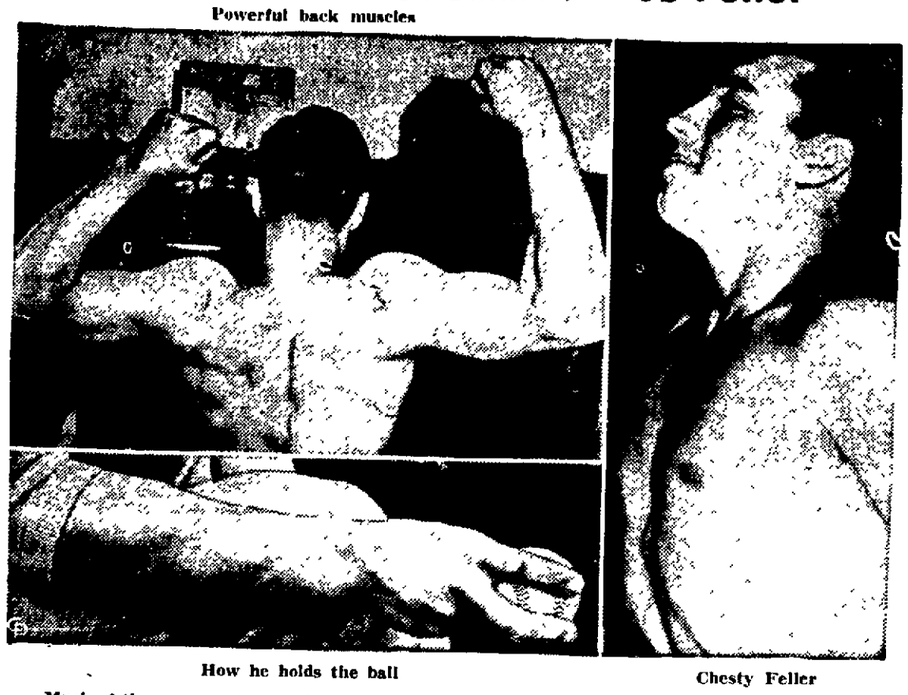
BUCYRUS—Bucyrus high school golf team took its second out of three games Thursday when Ashland came here to play the tricky Country club course. The final score was Bucyrus 12, Ashland 4.

SEVEN GET LETTERS

BOULDER, Colo.—(AP)—Only seven members of Colorado university's successful basketball team were awarded letters this season and four are seniors —Jack Harvey Don Thurman, Don Hendricks and Gene Grove.

Several Reasons for Success of Bob Feller

Powerful back muscles



How he holds the ball

Chesty Feller

Much of the success of young Bob Feller on the pitching mound can be traced to the powerful physique of the youthful pitching phenom. The camera takes Bobby apart to show you his back muscles, chest development and how he holds the ball. He has a wide wrist and his fingers are stubby and powerful, giving a firm grip on the ball.

Findlay Handed 1st Defeat of Season

TIFFIN—(AP)—The Tiffin Hens handed Findlay its first defeat of the Ohio State league season last night, 15 to 10.

The Hens bunched seven runs in the third inning and six in the eighth. The game was marred by 13 errors, seven by Tiffin.

Fostoria downed Fremont, 9 to 5, and Mansfield whipped Lima, 5 to 2.

Fremont signed Pitcher Stuart Heiss, recently released by Akron of the Mid-Atlantic league because of a sore arm.

Now There's a Balk In Basketball, Too

DENVER — New sport in the Rocky Mountain region is burro basketball.

Played in a manner similar to regulation basketball, except that the players ride burros, college students say the game is "great."

* * *

An added handicap is an electric "prodding" iron that the umpire wields. Whenever a player finds himself in a position to make a basket unmolested, the "umps" nudges the burro with the iron, charged with static electricity, and the results are upsetting.

AUTO RACES SET FOR TIFFIN TRACK SUNDAY

TIFFIN—Interest is starting to quicken throughout northern and central Ohio as Sunday draws near, because of the professional auto races to be held at the Seneca county fairground raceway.

Last minute preparations are being made in revamping the oval for the famous speed kings, whom Tiffin will be host to on Sunday.

Twenty two drivers of the iron steeds have returned their signed entries to date to compete for the prizes, bonuses, and trophies offered by the racing association. Last minute entries are expected to swell the entry to at least thirty.

MERCHANT GIRLS PLAY

The Mansfield Merchant Girls softball team will tangle with the Akron Local No. 5 team at 4 p. m. Sunday at North Lake park diamond The Akron team played an exhibition match in Madison Square Garden last year.

Schoolmasters Defeat Nicks

DeHaven Smashes Out Two Home Runs.

Poling out two long home runs, Bob DeHaven lead the Schoolmasters to a 13 to 5 decision over the Nicks Place softball team yesterday at the Liberty park diamond.

* * *

The Schoolmasters cinched the game in the second inning when the Schoolmasters drove across nine runs before they could be stopped.

* * *

Gross took the mound for the Nicks Place team, while Scoles toed the rubber for the schoolmasters.

Fans Turn Out For Preakness

Nine Thoroughbreds Go to Post at Baltimore.

BALTIMORE —(AP)— The racing faithful descended upon Baltimore by the thousands today to see nine good thoroughbreds fight it out for gold and glory in the 50th running of the historic preakness stakes, marking its golden jubilee.

Interest in this running of Maryland's most famous race was keyed to such a pitch that officials of the Maryland Jockey club looked for a crowd of 40,000 or more. Cloudy weather was forecast.

Luring the followers of the thoroughbreds to Pimlico was the prospect of another slam-bang battle between Mrs. Ethel V. Mars' Kentucky Derby winner, Gallahadion and Col. E. R. Bradley's Bimelech, the runner-up. Big Bim was an 8-5 favorite despite his Derby defeat. Post time was 4:55 (EST).

Meet Joe Vosmik, The No-Hit Kid

CINCINNATI —(AP)— Joe Vosmik played center field for the Dodgers the afternoon Jim (Tex) Carleton pitched Brooklyn to a no-hit, no-run game over the Cincinnati Reds.

It was the fourth no-hit game in which Vosmik, former American league outfielder, had played.

* * *

He was with Cleveland in 1931 when Wes Ferrell scored his no-hitter against the Browns. He was among the Indians held hitless when Vernon Kennedy gained his perfect game for the Chicago White Sox. And he was with the Browns in 1937 when Bill Dietrich of the White Sox let them down without a safety.

Blues Intend to Stay on Top

GERALD PRIDDY and Phil Rizzuto, Kansas City's famous double play kids, are up to their old stunts again.

* * *

The defending champions of the American Association moved into first place Thursday and the play of their great second base-shortstop combine indicates the Blues intend to stay there.

* * *

Charles Stanceu set Indianapolis down with five scattered hits yesterday while Priddy and Rizzuto paced a sparkling exhibition of defensive play to give the Blues an easy 8 to 0 victory.

Minneapolis matched the league leader's pace with a 5 to 4 decision over Columbus' cellar team.

Milwaukee knocked Louisville down into sixth place by whipping the Colonels, 5 to 2, behind the seven-hit pitching of Jimmy Deshong and Bob Kline.

* * *

St. Paul climbed into a third place tie with Milwaukee and Indianapolis by turning back Toledo, 9 to 4.

* * *

Today's games and probable pitchers: Indianapolis (Logan) at Kansas City (Gearhauser). Toledo (Wirkkala) at St. Paul (Herring). Columbus (Sunkey) at Minneapolis (Haefner). Louisville (J. Weaver) at Milwaukee (Marrow).

Johnny Allen Proves To Be Question Mark

CLEVELAND —(AP)— By nightfall the Indians hope to have a more definite idea of their 1940 pitching strength.

* * *

Johnny Allen, whose arm has been one of the big question marks of the team, was slated to face St. Louis in an attempt to make it two straight for the Indians. Emil Bildilli, the stocky southpaw who held the Yankees to two hits 10 days ago, was due for the Browns.

Allen stopped Detroit in the home opener and since has lost twice. Both his defeats came as he pitched in cold weather and Indian fans look upon his appearance today to provide a definite indication of his possibilities for the year.

Al Milnar received credit for the 9 to 4 victory over the Browns yesterday, although he give up seven hits and all the runs in five innings. Harry Eisenstat, called in as Bill Zuber failed in a relief role, limited St. Louis to two hits in the closing four innings. The triumph was Milnar's third of the season.

The Indians clinched the decision with a five-run rally in the fifth inning off Vernon Kennedy and added the other four runs in the eighth off Southpaw Howard Mills.

A groin injury suffered by Roy Weatherly in the final game of the New York series forced Manager Oscar Vitt to shift his outfield for the first time this year. Bell went to right fiel dand Chapman moved right field and Chapman moved spot.

Cleveland failed to cut Boston's game and a half first place lead, the Red Sox whipping the Yankees again. The tribe is a game and a half in front of the third-place Tigers.

Ambers Belted From Throne

Lightweight Loses Title to Lew Jenkins.

NEW YORK —(AP)— Before the startled, unbelieving gaze of a great crowd in Madison Square Garden last night, Lew Jenkins of Sweetwater, Texas, battered lightweight Champion Lou Ambers of Herkimer, N. Y., from his throne in less than three rounds of furious fighting.

The third round was one minute and 29 seconds old when Referee Billy Kavanagh grasped Ambers in his arms to spare him further punishment. Ambers had been down four times. His manager, Al Weill, was standing against the ropes waving a bath towel in token of surrender.

In that moment a great lightweight champion probably was born In the Garden lobby afterward the old-timers waved their arms and declared that Jenkins is the hardest hitting lightweight since Joe Gans.

This was Jenkins' eleventh straight victory since he came to New York last summer, hungry and looking for any sort of a fight. It was his eighth straight knockout.

The remarkable, inexplicable "homing" sense of dogs matches that of birds in many cases. For example, an Ohio sportsman took his dog with him to Texas. The dog, an Irish setter, apparently did not like his new surroundings and disappeared. Early one morning, ten months later; he turned up at his old home — 1500 miles away — in good condition.

If you keep a canoe at your permanent camp or cabin, build a rack of poles for it. The rack holds the craft upside down, keeps it free of sand and water, and prevents damage which sometimes occurs if the canoe is allowed to lie flat on the ground.

More and more shooters who enjoy target shooting and small game hunting with the .22, are turning to Super-X cartridges. For target shooting there are the X-Pert and the famous Super Match .22's . . . and for small game the power and accuracy of the Super-X makes a hit in more ways than one. Yuncker's are exclusive dealers for Western ammunition, in all the popular calibers.

One way to find South when you lack a compass is to observe the smooth green bark of poplar trees. Exposure to the sun whitens the bark on the south side more than at any other place.

The Bobwhite, it's claimed, can withhold scent voluntarily, for the best of dogs often fail to find him, even from within a few feet.

If you are getting a new fishing reel this season, you're in luck, for unusual values are featured by most leading manufacturers this year. At Yuncker's you'll find all the popular and dependable makes, conveniently displayed so you can compare them side by side. Even if you now have a good reel, it's a good idea to have a "spare."

Fish story, incredible but true! At a popular club near Key West, Florida, is a pool of fish —mainly groupers and snappers—which are trained to answer individually to their names. Some even flop into the proprietor's hand, to be fed and stroked!
